JOHN L. LEWIS HITS GARNER AS 'EVIL OLD MAN'

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

Washington, D. C., July 27.—A chorus of protest arose in both houses of congress today after John L. Lewis, C. I. O. czar, startled the house labor committee with a tirade against Vice President John N. Garner.

Lewis characterized the vice president as a "labor baiting, poker playing, whisky drinking, evil old man" who was the leader of a congressional campaign against labor.

This language shocked members of both parties who rallied to the support of Mr. Garner. But the vice president himself displayed only amusement and refused to comment when he heard of the Lewis statement and, upon consideration, a majority of the legislators expressed the opinion that the outburst would prove a boomerang to the labor leader and of considerable political benefit to Cactus Jack.

Termed Boost for Garner.

"The statement proves what I have always contended—that Lewis is public enemy No. 1," declared Senator Edward R. Burke [D., Neb.] "It is worth millions of votes to Mr. Garner if he is a candidate in 1940. In fact I think it will assure his election."

Burke said that Lewis was scheduled to appear before the senate labor committee next week and that he would call the labor chieftain to task for his remarks.

Several senators and representatives recalled that Lewis was a guest at the White House last week at the invitation of the President. They wondered if the Lewis blast might not have been inspired by Mr. Roosevelt, who is opposed to Garner as his successor.

Lewis appeared before the house committee in opposition to amendments to the wages and hours law. He appeared in support of the New Dealers' campaign to stop consideration of amendments to the act at this session.

Pounds Table and Shouts.

The C. I. O. head was in an excitable mood when he began his extemporaneous testimony. As he proceeded he pounded the table and raised his voice to a shout. His famous bushy eyebrows twitched and his face was flushed.

The climax of his statement came after he had charged that there was a deliberate campaign in congress to deprive the worker of "twenty-five lousy cents an hour."

"You know," he bellowed, "the genesis of this campaign against labor in the house of representatives is not hard to find. It is within the Democratic party. It runs across to the senate of the United States and emanates there from a labor baiting, poker playing, whisky drinking, evil old man whose name is Garner."

Agrees It's Personal Attack.

Members of the committee appeared unwilling to credit their ears. They sat staring at the bulky man in the white linen suit who slammed the table with his large, plump fists as he continued:

"Some gentlemen may rise in horror and say, 'Why, Mr. Lewis has made a personal attack on Mr. Garner.' Yes, I make a personal attack on Mr. Garner for what he is doing, because Garner's knife is searching, searching for the quivering, pulsating heart of labor. And I am against him. I am against him officially, individually, and personally, concretely and in the abstract, when his knife marches for the heart of my people.

"I am against him in 1939 and I will be against him in 1940 when he seeks the presidency of the United States. And I say to Mr. Garner and say to the people of the United States that he will never achieve the presidency of this republic by baiting labor and seeking to debase American ideals.

Attacks Garner as Banker.

"I have no objection to Mr. Garner, if he wants to do it and his neighbors let him get away with it, chasing sheep men and the cattle men of Texas by charging them exorbitant interest for loans through the banks that he controls.

NEW DEAL AIMS AT SOCIALISM, SENATOR WARNS

Rallies Opposition to President's Plan.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 27.—A speech by Senator Walter F. George [D., Ga.] charging that the Roosevelt administration is attempting deliberately to spend the country into state socialism, threatened the President's 2 billion 490 million dollar lending-spending bill with defeat in the senate tonight.

Senator Walter F. George.

Senator George, one of the senate's most eloquent orators and in appearance one of its most distinguished members, electrified the chamber in a two hour denunciation of the President's new spending scheme. Senators called it one of the strongest indictments ever delivered in the senate against the methods and motives of the New Deal.

"The bill before the senate is a fraud, a palpable fraud on its face, because it must result in an increase in the national debt without letting it show as an increased burden to the treasury," said Senator George.

"It is not only a legislative fraud; it is a moral fraud on the American people; it has every element of moral fraud in it."

Barkley Recesses Senate.

Several votes were changed by Senator George's speech. At least three senators informed their colleagues, after he had spoken, that they had intended to vote for the bill, but would vote against it.

Opposition leaders, believing for the first time that they had a chance to defeat the bill, intended to move tonight to recommit it. Alben W. Barkley [D., Ky.], senate majority leader, sponsor of the measure, was apprised of their plan. Presumably unwilling to risk a vote tonight he recessed the senate suddenly at 10:25 p. m. In doing so he informed the senate that it had been his hope to dispose of the bill tonight.

Senate Has Test Vote.

Soon after Senator George had spoken the senate reached its first test vote on the bill. By a vote of 40 to 38 it rejected an amendment by Senator Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.] to eliminate the provision authorizing 500 million dollars for superhighways, grade crossings, bridges, tunnels, and other transportation facilities. This result would have been changed on a motion to reconsider later tonight had not Barkley recessed the senate. Five supporters of the Byrd amendment who were absent when the vote was taken, during the dinner hour, were on the floor later, while only two absentees on the administration side returned later.

Senator Frederick Van Nuys [D., Ind.], who was absent at the time of the vote, will move to reconsider the Byrd amendment tomorrow.

Plan Includes Housing Bill.

The senate tonight rejected, by a vote of 43 to 35, an amendment by Senator Scott W. Lucas [D., Ill.] to eliminate the provision authorizing 350 million dollars for loans for public works and to substitute an appropriation of 250 millions for PWA loans and grants under the old system. It also rejected an amendment by Senator Francis T. Maloney [D., Conn.] to add an appropriation of 350 million dollars for old style PWA loans and grants.

In addition to the 2 billion 490 million dollar bill pending in the senate the President's spending-lending program includes the 800 million dollar Wagner housing bill pending in the house.

Senator George, in his attack, said the Roosevelt spending program would result inevitably in a system of state socialism and economic regimentation under which political and civil liberties could not survive. He accused the proponents of the spending philosophy of deliberate and intentional acts, the consequences of

N. Y. Racket Guns Kill Wrong Man

THE KICK BACK

Find Loophole in Son's Alibi in Gore Killing

Benton, Ill., July 27 [Special].—Authorities investigating the mysterious slaying of Mrs. George W. Gore Sr., wife of a wealthy surgeon, disclosed tonight they had found a loophole in the alibi of the woman's step-son, George W. Gore Jr., who is charged with murder in the case.

Young Gore has maintained that he had not been in Benton recently and that he and his wife spent last week-end vacationing in the Ozark mountains of Missouri. At the time of the slaying, early Sunday, he said he was registered at a hotel in Charleston, Mo.

Investigators learned that Gore and his wife, Katheryn, registered at the hotel last Saturday evening, but that Gore left at 9 p. m. and did not return until 6 o'clock the next morning. His step-mother was slain at 3 a. m. Sunday morning.

Learn Son Bought Auto.

Young Gore's attorney, Carl Choisser, who is also his cousin, has stated repeatedly that the defendant did not have a car with which he possibly could have driven here. It was estimated that it would take three hours to drive from Charleston to Benton.

It was learned, however, that on the Tuesday preceding the killing Gore purchased a car for $60 from a taxicab service in Cairo, Ill. He gave the name of G. W. Groves, 6620 Kenwood avenue, Chicago. His home is in Cape Girardeau, Mo.

The car he purchased was found Sunday, several hours after the slaying, abandoned on a side road about a mile outside of the city limits of Charleston, Mo.

Young Gore Free on Bond.

Upon the advice of State's Attorney Rea Jones, young Gore was released on bond of $10,000 yesterday and was permitted to return to Cape Girardeau, where he manages a medical office for his father.

Gore, who is 30 years old and a former student at the University of Illinois, was taken into custody at Cape Girardeau on Monday and was held without charge until yesterday. His wife, arrested with him, was released Tuesday evening.

Local authorities apparently had been without clews in the case until the arrival here of agents from the state department of investigation and identification. Last night T. F. Sullivan, chief of the department, came here to take personal charge of the inquiry.

Slain on Sleeping Porch.

Mrs. Gore was shot to death by an intruder who broke the glass on a sleeping porch of her home and fired five bullets into her body. Dr. Gore, who was sleeping with her, said he crouched under the bed, afraid to turn on lights for fear the slayer would fire at him.

Mrs. Gore was 45 years old, twenty years younger than her husband. They were married two years ago, a year following the death of the physician's first wife. The slain woman had been Dr. Gore's secretary for ten years preceding their marriage.

NEW DEAL CASH BAIT REFUSED BY FARMER; HE WANTS A MARKET

Lansing, Mich., July 27 [Special].—Harry F. Kelly, secretary of state, today received an 88 cent check from A. R. Hall, Buchanan orchardist, who asked that it be applied to the $25,000,000 debt "loaded on us by ex-Governor Murphy."

Hall had received the check from the federal soil conservation administration. In a letter accompanying it, he told Kelly:

"I will not accept any baits for good farming practices which I have been using for the last thirty-six years, but would be glad to receive better prices for my farm products if the New Deal's reciprocity treaties were abolished and gave us our own markets."

Police Chief Gives Blessing to a New Style Pants Thief

Laurel, Miss., July 27 (AP).—Police Chief J. E. Brown gave his blessing today to Laurel's roving pants thief. He is not the traditional pants burglar who lifts trousers from bedrooms while owners sleep. This fellow trails weaving drunks until they collapse, then shucks them out of their breeches. Said Brown: "We don't even want to find out who this thief is. If he keeps on he may stop some of the drinking."

Paul Reveres Go to Warn the Dog Catcher's Coming

Gloucester, N. J., July 27 (AP).—Gloucester's modern young Paul Reveres went into action for the second time today. Boys ran through streets ahead of dog catchers shouting: "Get the dogs in. Get the dogs in. Here comes the dog catcher." It worked perfectly.

Stalin Purges 79 Aids; Fires Soviet General

MOSCOW, July 27 (AP).—Gen. Grigorio Shtern has been relieved of his post as commander of the first special Red Banner army in the far east and replaced by Gen. Popov. Gen. Shtern, in a sense, was the successor to Marshal Vassily Bluecher in the far east.

Paul Oras, one of Stalin's purge victims.

His removal was disclosed soon after the Official Gazette had published a list of seventy-nine men, formerly high in soviet military and diplomatic life, who had been stripped of their decorations.

No Official Explanation.

The list included several far eastern officers. Publication of such information in soviet Russia is tantamount to announcement that the men named have been placed under arrest.

There was no official explanation of the dishonoring of the leaders, or the removal of Gen. Shtern by Dictator Josef Stalin. A decree merely stated the seventy-nine were deprived of their decorations for "actions unworthy of order bearers."

One of the former Red leaders stripped of his decorations was V. K. Tairov, former soviet minister to the Mongolian People's republic, who received the order of Lenin in 1937 for distinguished diplomatic achievements.

Aviation Chief Dishonored.

Another whose decorations were ordered stripped was Air Force Commander Lapin, who formerly stood next to Marshal Bluecher.

Others were Division Commander Sergeyev; Shevchenko, chief of the political administration in the Ural military district; Naval Engineer Paul Oras, a former soviet naval attaché in Washington, D. C.; Rappaport, former political commissar of the Frunze Naval academy; former Vice Commissar of Trade S. K. Sudin, and a submarine commander named Batis.

Mistake Victim for Witness in Dewey Inquiry

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 27.—The murder of Irving Penn, mild mannered music publishing executive, today was officially announced as a case of mistaken identity in which four gunmen thought they were silencing a witness in the textile racket investigation conducted by District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey. Penn was assassinated near his home Tuesday.

Irving Penn.

District Attorney Samuel J. Foley of the Bronx, the borough in which the crime took place, declared the murderers were after Philip Orlovsky, president of a textile firm who lived in the same apartment building and bore a marked resemblance to the slain man. Orlovsky was a witness in the Dewey inquiry.

Fifth Killing in Inquiry.

The Penn killing was the fifth since the first of the year attributed to Dewey's investigation into the garment and fur rackets. The other victims, said to have been connected with the prosecution, were Abraham Friedman, Morris Diamond, Irving Friedman, and Louis Cohen. Diamond was an official of the teamsters' union. Max Rubin and Joseph Miller, reported Dewey witnesses, were shot and wounded near their homes.

Overlords of the New York garment racket are Louis Buchalter, a fugitive, and Jacob Shapiro, now a federal prisoner. It was reported that Abraham Friedman, one of the fifteen indicted by Dewey, was killed because he had started talking to the prosecutor.

Several hours after the Penn killing, detectives from New York county, which is under Dewey's jurisdiction, arrived in the Bronx and established a guard over Orlovsky. Referring to this move, District Attorney Foley, who is a Democrat, criticized Dewey for not arranging for a guard earlier and accused him of not coöperating in the Penn case.

Defends Dewey's Office.

Dewey was out of the city on a vacation. In his absence Sewell T. Tyng, acting district attorney, issued a statement saying Dewey's office was of the opinion that it was not "in the public interest to discuss the details of any pending case publicly." Tyng would not talk about Orlovsky's rôle in the racket investigation.

Orlovsky, the intended victim, according to Foley's view of the case, is president of the Phil-Or-Textile Shrinking corporation. He is 5 feet 5 inches tall and weighs about 200 pounds. Penn, who was manager of the royalties division of G. Schirmer, Inc., music publishing house, was about 5 feet 7 and weighed 240 pounds. Orlovsky is 45 years old. Penn was 42.

Foley declared there was sufficient general resemblance to account for the gunmen's error.

Orlovsky left for his office an hour earlier than usual Tuesday morning, a happenstance that apparently saved his life. Penn emerged from the building at about the hour of Orlovsky's usual departure and the gunmen pumped five bullets into him.

BAN ON JAPAN'S GOLD AND SILVER IS CONSIDERED

Hull Says New Pact Depends on Tokio.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 27.—Reaction at home and abroad today to President Roosevelt's termination of the existing commercial treaty between the United States of America and Japan illuminated the step as one of far reaching consequences in the power politics in which the great nations are engaging.

The Japanese government took umbrage at the sudden move, uttered some threats of retaliation, and finally stated that any new treaty negotiated must recognize the new order created by Japan in China.

[Details of the Japanese reaction and a summary of the terms of the treaty will be found on page 2.]

The British government was immensely pleased at the action, which was hailed in London as one calculated to strengthen the hand of Britain in the current British-Japanese negotiations to settle the dispute at Tientsin, where Japanese have blockaded the British and French concessions since June 14.

Declines to Elaborate.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull declined to elaborate upon the notice of termination of the treaty, but intimated that any new accord must be preceded by a satisfactory settlement of political differences between America and Japan.

The Japanese government would be required to assume solemn obligations to respect American rights in those parts of China occupied by Japan. It was as a protest against indignities suffered by Americans from Japanese officials and troops and violation of the rights of Americans to hold property and pursue business activities in the occupied regions that the President terminated the treaty.

It is not necessary for the abrogation of the treaty to be ratified by the senate. Usually treaties have been abrogated by act of congress. President Taft, however, abrogated the Russian treaty of 1832 and his action was ratified by a joint resolution of both houses.

Put on Good Behavior.

Secretary Hull, in effect, in discussing the question at his press conference today, put Japan upon her good behavior, for he said that in the six months period that will elapse before actual termination of the treaty events will indicate whether a new treaty profitably could be concluded.

That the administration may retaliate against Japan in other ways was disclosed by Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, who said that he is studying Japan's export of gold and silver to America and also the importation of Japanese goods, which is said to be subsidized.

The treasury already is levying countervailing duties on subsidized German and Italian exports.

Aided in Financing War.

Japan has been aided greatly in financing the Chinese war through sale of gold and silver to America.

The net movement of gold to America from Japan in 1937 was 246½ million dollars, 169 million last year, and 85 millions so far this year.

Silver purchased from Japan amounted to 1¼ million dollars in 1937, nearly 3 millions last year, and 2½ millions so far this year.

Soon after Morgenthau had spoken, the commerce department made public an analysis of Japan's economy in which the importance of trade with America and the sale of gold here was emphasized.

"The most pressing need [of Japan] at the moment," the analysis said, "is for exchange to carry on its foreign trade."

Needs Gold or Exchange.

Half of the Japanese people work on farms, the bulletin said, and most of the remainder are normally employed in industries producing goods for export to other countries.

"To purchase the raw materials which go into this production, Japan must either have gold which she can export in payment for them, or foreign exchange obtained by exporting the goods she manufactures," the statement added.

White House attaches who habitually reflect the views of the President were boasting that Mr. Roosevelt had "taken the ball away" from Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.]. Senator Key Pittman [D., Nev.], chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, was pressing for an embargo on export of war materials to Japan when Senator Vandenberg asserted that such embargo would be a violation of the existing treaty with Japan and promptly offered a resolution to terminate the treaty.

Doesn't Wait for Senate.

Senator Pittman accepted the Vandenberg measure in lieu of his own and Secretary Hull said the executive would be pleased to be advised by the senate on this matter. The foreign relations committee yesterday morning, however, postponed action on the Vandenberg resolution and a few hours later the President terminated the treaty without waiting for action by the senate.

The common view in official Washington is that the President took the action not only in retaliation for recent affronts to Americans in China by the Japanese but in pursuance of his larger objective of influencing the preservation of peace. It was a further display of resentment against the totalitarian powers against which Mr. Roosevelt is maneuvering to mobilize the resources of America with the professed objective of deterring Germany, Italy and Japan from starting another world war.

War Twice Averted.

Mr. Roosevelt regards himself as a potent war averter. In his opinion, he averted a European war last September with his plea to Hitler not to march against Czecho-Slovakia and averted war a second time with his ten year truce message to Hitler and Mussolini when the Germans were meditating occupation of Danzig.

At Hyde Park recently he lamented that the action of the senate in shelving the arms embargo repealer had prevented him from striking a third blow for peace. Hence, there is surmise that he regards his termination of the treaty with Japan as his third blow for peace by way of informing Germany, Italy, and Japan that America will strike back against aggression.

Termination of the treaty opens the way to legislation next winter to embargo shipment of war supplies to Japan. Senator William E. Borah [R., Idaho] said today that he will stand for an arms embargo directed not only at Japan but all other belligerents.

RUBBERNECKS IRK WINDSORS CLAD IN BATHING SUITS

CANNES, France, July 27 (AP).—Rubbernecking tourists who cruised too close to the duke of Windsor's château on the Mediterranean coast irked the former king of England, who was reported today to have appealed to officials to stop the practice.

The duke was said to have been particularly displeased at the curiosity displayed when he and his duchess donned swimming suits for a quiet beach sunning.

Cannes officials confessed they were helpless to prevent any one from taking to the Mediterranean with a boat and binoculars. They said they did not know what they could do to assure the duke's privacy.

LORDS APPROVE BILL TO DEPORT IRISH TERRORISTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 27.—Power to deport Irish Republican Army suspects was voted Home Secretary Sir Samuel Hoare today in a quick move to stamp out further bomb outrages which have cost two lives and kept Britain on edge for six months. The house of lords' approval of the deportation measure today followed similar action by the house of commons last night.

JAPANESE SEEK NEW TRADE PACT WITH AMERICA

Meanwhile Study Means of Retaliation.

TOKIO, July 28 [Friday.] (AP).—The Japanese foreign office announced today Japan's willingness to conclude a new trade treaty with the United States of America, but questioned "the hasty and abrupt manner" in which Washington, D. C., denounced the 1911 accord.

The foreign office spokesman earlier had declared "Japan certainly will take retaliatory measures if there is discrimination by America" after expiration of the six month period required to terminate the treaty.

[Japan then will have no "most favored nation" clause with America and her trade with America therefore will be under conditions less favorable than that of many other countries.]

Linked to Tientsin Dispute.

Announcement of willingness to conclude a new treaty "if Washington desires" was contained in an official statement issued this morning. It indicated the foreign office's belief Washington's action was a political gesture connected with the British-Japanese negotiations on the Tientsin dispute. The Japanese have blockaded the British and French concessions in Tientsin since June 14.

Referring to the Washington explanation that reëxamination of the treaty led to the conclusion that the American-Japanese pact contained provisions needing new consideration, the statement said:

"These reasons of the American government, which serve equally well for revision of the treaty, fail to explain fully why the American government should have found it necessary to give notice of abrogation in such a hasty and abrupt manner."

Can't Grasp Motive.

Because of the suddenness of the action and the brevity of the explanation, it went on:

"It is difficult to grasp the true motive underlying the action.

"Although the American government claims the notification has no connection whatever with deliberations of the senate foreign affairs committee [a reference to Senator Vandenberg's [R., Mich.] proposal to abolish the American-Japanese treaty], the present action, coming as it does at the time of the British-Japanese conversations, is highly susceptible to being generally interpreted as having political significance.

"A new situation is rapidly developing in East Asia. The Japanese government has long been hoping that other countries of the world would frankly recognize this fact."

Viewed as Unfriendly Act.

Other official circles, apart from the foreign office, regarded Washington's action, taken on Wednesday, as an unfriendly act because of its abruptness.

The independent newspaper Tokio Asahi said the intention of the denunciation was apparently to clear the way for an embargo on shipment of war materials to Japan.

Domei, the Japanese news agency, quoted Osaka business men as saying that the move was retaliation for the harm done American business interests in China during the two year old war.

Domei suggested that one purpose was to halt shipments of Japanese cotton cloth to America.

The stock market slipped slightly but rallied to normal a few hours after the American decision was made known.

Helen Priscilla Stam, age 5, whose parents were slain by Chinese bandits, as she arrived in Vancouver.

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 27 [Canadian Press].—Five year old Helen Priscilla Stam, for whom a friendly Chinese gave up his life to Chinese bandits so that she might live, is getting her first glimpse of the American continent.

Known throughout the world as the "miracle baby," Helen was met upon her arrival from the orient aboard the Empress of China Tuesday by her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Scott of Princeton, N. J. Today she was en route east to her own home.

Chinese bandits looting Tsingteh, China, in December, 1934, murdered the baby's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Stam, American missionaries of Paterson, N. J., and Holyoke, Mass. The Chinese offered his life to the bandits if they would spare the baby, the grandparents said. The bandits accepted the offer.

The baby later was found in a deserted house.

Miss Grable said the grounds would be mental cruelty. Coogan disclosed in Los Angeles last Tuesday night that the couple had separated.

Sales Between Nations.

Total American sales to Japan during 1938 were $239,620,000, according to department of commerce figures. Twenty-one per cent of this was in cotton. Scrap iron, petroleum, iron-alloys, machinery, automobiles, and airplanes were other major items in the export total.

Japan's sales to America attained a peak of $431,873,000 in 1929, but they have declined almost steadily since then, only 1937 reversing this trend, when the total was $204,201,000. For 1938 the figure was $126,820,000, of which 63.5 per cent was in raw silk.

AMERICANS PROTEST JAPS' BLOCKADE OF CANTON FOREIGN AREA

Myrl S. Myers, American consul general.

American Consul General Myrl S. Myers made oral and written protests to the Japanese consulate general in Canton after the first day of a Japanese blockade of the Pearl [Canton] river and restrictions on entry into Shameen Island, on which are Canton's British and French concessions.

Leisurely Japanese search of all Chinese entering and leaving the island delayed Chinese employés of the American consulate general—which is on Shameen—for many hours. Only one Japanese searcher was stationed at each of the two bridges leading to the island, thus necessitating delays of half a day for many of the Chinese lined up waiting to cross. Foreigners were allowed to pass without search upon showing identification passes.

LOUISIANA OIL CHIEF AND LECHE GO BEFORE JURY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New Orleans, La., July 27.—Ex-Gov. Richard W. Leche and Dr. J. A. Shaw, whom Gov. Earl Long fired and rehired as head of the minerals division of the Louisiana conservation department, were called as witnesses today before the federal grand jury. Leche was before the jury only 10 minutes and it was announced he will be recalled tomorrow. The nature of his testimony and Shaw's was kept secret.

The jury also had certain records of the state conservation department taken before it.

The conservation department has supervision over oil well drillings and quotas.

Federal investigators have been investigating hot oil. By hot oil is meant oil shipped in excess of the quotas fixed for given wells and in viclation of federal allotments and regulations.

PASS CONSCRIPT LAW TO ENROLL HONGKONG MALES

HONGKONG, July 27 (AP).]—The legislative council of this British crown colony today passed a measure to make all non-Chinese male British subjects between 18 and 55 years of age subject to compulsory military service.

The world famous night view of Hongkong with its myriad lights was blotted out completely for two hours tonight. A newly formed air raid precaution organization enforced its first colony wide blackout, educating the populace to the reality of war preparations. Ships in the crowded harbor also were darkened and the British navy's speedy motorboats patrolled the waterways.

BRITISH MAY GET A BIT TOUGHER IN ROW WITH JAPAN

America's Treaty Action Encourages Them.

LONDON, July 27 (AP).—Encouraged by American denunciation of the American-Japanese trade treaty, Great Britain was reported tonight to be considering stronger measures to protect her rights in the far east unless Japan observed the spirit as well as the letter of the new British-Japanese agreement, under which Britain recognized the "special requirements" of Japanese armed forces in occupied areas of China.

Some quarters said they saw a possibility that the government might follow America's lead and denounce the 1911 British-Japanese trade treaty—but official circles said that was not likely for the present.

Economic Reprisals.

One official said the government wanted to try first to settle the difficulties by talks now going on in Tokio. If these talks failed or if the Japanese continued their anti-British campaign, it was said this policy might be scrapped and the government then reconsider its plans for economic reprisals.

These plans—including denunciation of the trade treaty and imposition of an embargo on Japanese goods—never have been discarded completely, informed quarters said.

The house of lords today passed the government's armaments-swollen record peacetime budget of $6,888,000,000, which already had been approved by the house of commons. The lords also approved the overseas trade guarantees bill which provides $234,000,000 in export credits for friendly nations in addition to the $46,800,000 set aside for this purpose last February.

French Ships Sail for Malta.

TOULON, France, July 27 (AP).—Rear Admiral O. H. Olive, newly appointed commander of France's Mediterranean fleet, has sailed aboard his flagship, the battleship Provence, on an official visit to the British commandant at Malta. The battleship was reported accompanied by three destroyers.

British Win Over Italians in Malta Council Election

VALETTA, Malta, July 27.—Pro-British parties scored a conclusive victory over the so-called Italian party in an election held to determine ten places on the Malta council, results announced today revealed. The Constitutionalists, Lord Strickland's party, won six seats; the pro-British Laborites, one, and the Nationalists, pro-Italian, three.

Chinese Told Great Britain Has Granted New Credit

[Copyright; 1939: By the New York Times.]

CHUNGKING, China, July 28 [Friday].—Announcement of America's action in abrogating its 1911 treaty with Japan came simultaneously with announcement of a new British credit to China. The amount of the credit was not revealed.

BRITAIN, FRANCE FAIL TO CLOSE MOSCOW PACT

MOSCOW, July 27 (AP).—British and French envoys conferred again tonight with Premier Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov, but what progress had been made toward conclusion of the proposed three-power mutual assistance pact could not be learned immediately.

British and French sources asserted, however, that the pact had not been concluded—and, on the other hand, that the negotiations had not broken down. Molotov conferred for approximately an hour and one-half with the western European envoys, British Ambassador Sir William Seeds, French Ambassador Paul Emile-Naggiar, and William Strang, special British envoy.

The conversations were held in French, with the translations into Russian for Molotov being made by Vladimir P. Potemkin, first assistant commissar of foreign affairs. Other meetings in the Kremlin are scheduled, but the date for the next one has not been set yet.

OIL CONSPIRACY CASE UPSET BY APPEALS COURT

3d Anti-Monopoly Defeat

The three judges of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday reversed the conviction of seventeen defendants in the government's oil conspiracy case which was tried at Madison, Wis., in 1937 and 1938. The high court remanded the case for a new trial and declared that the charge against the defendants—that they conspired to raise and fix gasoline prices in the midwestern area—was akin to what the government had tried to do under the National Industrial Recovery act.

In Washington Thurman Arnold, assistant attorney general in charge of the anti-trust division of the department of justice, said the case will be carried to the Supreme court.

Third Recent Defeat.

The decision marked the third defeat sustained by federal authorities recently in their so-called anti-monopoly campaign. A few weeks ago the indictments charging milk producers and distributors with conspiracy to control prices in that industry in the Chicago area were dismissed in the federal District court here. On Wednesday the Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia dismissed the government's anti-trust suit against the American Medical association.

The seventeen defendants in the oil case include five individuals and twelve corporations. The five individuals had each been fined $1,000. They are Charles E. Arnott, New York City, vice president of Socony-Vacuum Oil company; H. T. Ashton, St. Louis, Mo., manager of Lubrite division, Socony-Vacuum; P. E. Lakin, St. Louis, general sales manager, Shell Petroleum corporation; Robert W. McDowell, Tulsa, Okla., vice president Mid-Continent Petroleum corporation, and R. H. McElroy Jr., Chicago, tank car sales manager for Pure Oil company.

Twelve Corporations Fined.

The twelve corporations had been fined $5,000 each. They are Socony-Vacuum, Wadhams Oil company, Pure Oil, Sinclair Refining company, Shell Petroleum, Skelly Oil company, Continental Oil company, Mid-Continent Petroleum, Empire Oil and Refining company, Phillips Petroleum company, Globe Oil and Refining Company of Illinois and Globe Oil and Refining Company of Oklahoma.

The decision was written by Judge J. Earl Major and concurred in by Judge Will M. Sparks and Judge Otto Kerner.

The leading point on which the reversal was ordered concerned the government's presentation of its case to the jury at the Madison trial. The prosecutors contended that the defendants were in a conspiracy which was a violation of the Sherman anti-trust act. The Court of Appeals held that the case should have been submitted to the jury on the question of whether there was an unreasonable restraint of interstate commerce.

NRA Efforts Cited.

"Efforts by the government during NRA to stabilize the prices of crude oil and gasoline should have been considered by the jury in determining the character of the restraint and the good faith of the defendants in undertaking to remove surplus gasoline from the spot market," the decision said.

Other reasons for the reversal were that the trial court refused to admit certain evidence in favor of the defendants, that government counsel improperly used grand jury testimony before the trial jury, and that some arguments of the government attorneys to the jury were improper.

Originally seventy-two defendants were named in the oil conspiracy indictment—twenty-three oil companies, three trade publications, and forty-six individuals.

The trial was held before Judge Patrick T. Stone in the federal District court at Madison. It lasted 111 days, ending Jan. 24, 1938, when the jury brought in a verdict convicting sixteen companies and thirty individuals. During the trial Judge Stone had dismissed six teen individuals, seven corporations, and the three trade publications.

On July 19, 1938, Judge Stone upheld the convictions of seventeen of the defendants, set aside the verdict and dismissed indictments against eleven, and ordered a new trial for the other eighteen. This trial has not yet been held.

Wins Nevada Divorce

MRS. GWENDOLINE DEWEY.

Mrs. Gwendoline Ffoulke Smith Dewey was granted a divorce from Albert B. Dewey Jr. of Washington and Chicago in Carson City, Nev., yesterday, it was learned here. She charged cruelty.

Their marriage in Paris in 1928 was exciting news in Chicago social circles, where Mr. Dewey long had been listed as the city's most eligible bachelor. He is a brother of Charles S. Dewey of Chicago, who at the time of the marriage was director of finances for Poland.

Mrs. Dewey, renowned for her beauty, made her debut in Washington in 1925, being presented by her late grandmother, Mrs. Charles M. Ffoulke, whose palatial residence housed a $3,000,000 art collection.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey have been frequent visitors in Chicago, returning each year for the Assembly ball. They have two sons, Albert B. III. and Chauncey Ffoulke, custody of whom was granted to Mrs. Dewey. Mrs. Dewey and the children will arrive here Aug. 25 to be the guests of Mrs. Philip Maher in Lake Bluff.

URGE CHICAGO AS ENTRY PORT FOR AIR TRAFIC

An "Ellis island" for foreign travelers and merchandise entering Chicago by airplane was urged yesterday by the Chicago Association of Commerce. The association announced that its plan to have the government declare the municipal airport a port of entry was endorsed by Joseph A. Ziemba, collector of customs in this district.

"We have made inquiry and secured statistics from a number of border ports covering the arrival of aircraft from abroad destined to Chicago," Ziemba said. "The information obtained has been transmitted to the commissioner of customs, Washington, D. C., with a recommendation that the Chicago municipal airport be made an airport of entry."

The association's proposal was made as part of the Greater Chicago Plan to enhance Chicago's importance in aviation. Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau and Secretary of Labor Perkins have been appealed to for action to establish at the airport facilities to clear aliens and collect customs on commodities entering from foreign countries.

BRIDGES ISSUED ORDERS FOR REDS, SAYS WITNESS

Tells About Communist Plots on Government.

San Francisco, Cal., July 27 Special].—Plots involving maritime union politics on the west coast, alleged communist plans to seize aircraft factories, the navy yards at Bremerton, Wash., and huge power dams were told today in the deportation hearing of Harry Bridges.

John Ryan Davis, former business agent of the Sailors Union of the Pacific, run by Bridges' bitter foe, Harry Lundeberg, was on the witness stand.

Davis, who holds a Congressional medal for heroism at sea, accused Bridges, a native of Australia, of being a communist and told of numerous communist party caucuses in which the Pacific coast C. I. O. director participated.

Under questioning by John Boyd, counsel for the Seattle immigration bureau, Davis said he was ousted as union business agent at Aberdeen, Wash., in 1937, when he was convicted of misappropriating union funds and given a suspended sentence.

Tells of Bridges at Meetings.

Davis testified he became a member of the communist party in 1935, a year after joining the Sailors Union of the Pacific. He joined, he said, at the invitation of Walter Stack, identified in testimony of others as a communist organizer.

"I joined under the name of Mike Gallagher," Davis declared, "after Stack suggested I use an assumed name, as other party members did, to protect them if party records were seized by authorities."

Davis said he first met Bridges in 1935 and "knew he was a communist because I attended 'top fraction' meetings and party caucuses with him."

He told of a meeting in 1936 in Seattle following a massmeeting at which Bridges, Harry Lundeberg, and J. C. Ferguson spoke.

Red Orders from Bridges.

"About 20 communists were there," said Davis, naming leaders of various west coast unions.

Davis said he also had attended a communist meeting in San Francisco in 1935 at which sailors and longshoremen, all communists, formulated a communist program for the maritime industry. Another party caucus, he said, was held in Bridges' office.

"Did Harry Bridges ever give you any instructions on behalf of the communist party?" asked Boyd, the government counsel.

"Yes," replied Davis, "he suggested I help the communist slate, and run for office myself in the Sailors' Union of the Pacific.

He told of an SUP meeting at which he presided and said George Larsen, then secretary of the SUP, wanted to resign. The membership rejected the resignation.

Taken to Task by Bridges.

"Bridges took me to task for not pushing through that resignation so we could get an opening to put in a communist," said Davis.

"Did the communists advocate force and violence?" he was asked.

"Yes," he said. "Walter Stack told me the communist party had members at Sand Point air base, in the Boeing factory, at Bremerton navy yard, and in construction crews on big dams being built in the northwest.

"These communists were supposed to take control of those places by violence or other means in case of a war or revolution."

Gordon Castor, former organizer in Seattle of the International Wood Workers' association, produced on the witness stand a communist membership book to show he had belonged to the party under the name of D. W. Cartier.

The Inquiring Reporter

The Question.

Where Answered.

The Answers.

George Pratt, 1008 North Harding street, clerk.—Half of it should go to the government. If a man earns that much he should be willing to pay a 50 per cent income tax. He ought to be comfortable on half a million. Even though Ford has made much of his money through his own initiative, there are thousands of people who have no opportunity these days to earn any money.

Anthony Pacelli, 904 South Marshfield avenue, teller.—At least two-thirds of an income of a million dollars should be charged off to income tax. As long as the money is made in this country, through the hard work of labor, the needy of the country should benefit by it. One-third of a million for pin money isn't exactly privation, you know.

Miss Betty Schneider, 3831 Wilton avenue, housewife.—Surely $100,000 of it should be enough for his own profit. At least 90 per cent should be shared with the people. It seems a great injustice that one man can have so much, or has the chance to make so much, and that thousands cannot find work for the necessities of life.

Stuart N. Arkin, 2051 Arthur avenue, attorney.—At least 75 per cent of it should go back to the government, especially since Ford's money is not gained by work but by accumulated capital and investments. A quarter million should still leave him enough for luxuries. Ford has so much money that if he spent $1,000 a day he couldn't spend it all for 2,000 years.

Frank Hlavka, 1841 South 56th avenue, Cicero, deputy sherif.—About 2½ per cent of it should be paid in income tax. He is a manufacturer and takes a chance every year of going very far behind. If business gets too bad, he would have to close down his factory and go into his own money for overhead. The situation adjusts itself. One year Ford might make a great deal, and the next year, he might lose it and more, too.

Annenberg Jury Gets Ten Cases of Records

Ten large packing cases containing records of twenty-two companies controled or owned by M. L. Annenberg, Philadelphia publisher and New Deal critic, were moved yesterday into the room occupied by the federal grand jury investigating monopoly charges against Annenberg.

This inquiry is separate from the Annenberg income tax investigation which a special grand jury has been pursuing since June 5. William J. Campbell, United States attorney, said 146 witnesses have been heard on the income tax case and that at least another week would be required to complete the government's evidence.

STATE WPA HEAD PROPOSES CUT IN STAFF SALARIES

Urges Action in Line with Wage Reductions.

A suggestion that salaries of Work Projects administration officials be cut in line with expected reductions in the pay of WPA relief workers was made yesterday by Charles E. Miner, Illinois WPA administrator. He said the percentage of reduction should be increased for officials in the higher income brackets.

WPA officials in Washington are attempting to carry out the new requirement that earnings shall not be varied for workers of the same type in different geographical areas to any greater extent than may be justified by differences in the cost of living.

Changes to be Made by Aug. 15.

Col. F. C. Harrington, WPA commissioner, said recently that this would mean a reduction in the wages of WPA workers in the north and a raise in wages for those in the south. He said the changes in pay scales probably would be ready for publication Aug. 15.

"I think the percentage of reduction for relief workers, when it is determined, also should be applied against salaries of administrative and project supervisory employés," Miner said. "If those who are most in need are going to face reduced salaries, it is only fair that we should have cuts too."

If Miner's suggestion should be carried out it would affect the salaries of approximately 1,000 administrative and 5,000 project supervisory employés in the state. He said he would apply the top percentage cut to his own salary of $8,000 a year.

Unmaried to Get Jobs Last.

An announcement by Leo M. Lyons, executive secretary of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, disclosed that single persons will be the last ones to be given WPA jobs in the future. Lyons listed those who will get WPA jobs in this order:

1. Persons most in need having no income. 2. Persons in need having some income. 3. Single persons without dependents.

TWO TRAINMEN, 7 OTHERS HURT IN ARIZONA WRECK

Grand Canyon, Ariz., July 27.—(AP)—Two locomotives and four coaches of a special Santa Fe passenger train were derailed six miles south of here tonight, injuring seven passengers and two crew members. The injured passengers, whose names were not immediately announced by physicians, were brought to a hospital here. None was hurt seriously. B. H. Sparks, engineer, and N. E. Parks, conductor, were slightly injured.

The train, drawn by two locomotives and carrying 190 passengers, left the track as it entered a curve. A combination baggage car and chair car, occupied by thirty passengers, turned over on its side. A coach was turned at right angle to the track. The wreckage broke telephone and telegraph wires.

W. P. Robillard, a flagman, halted two other sections following the special to Williams. Railroad officials said a day would be required to clear the track.

GERMANS BOAST PLANES CAN RUIN CITIES IN BRITAIN

Claim They Have an Edge in Air Raids.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 27.—The Frankfurter Zeitung, mouthpiece of the Nazi foreign office, today attempted to explain why it believes German bombing squadrons are in a better position to destroy British industrial centers than British planes are to wipe out German industrial towns.

"First of all, English industrial centers are nearer to Germany's North sea ports than Germany's industrial towns are to British air fields," the paper said. "Second, the avenues of approach by German bombers—at least as far as the eastern part of England is concerned—lead over the open sea where air defense can only be weak.

"Above all, the combined Italian and German air fleets are numerically stronger than those of our possible foe. There is no place in England beyond the range of our bombers if England would really be mad enough to cross swords with us.

British Pilots Praised.

"The decisive strategical fact of our century is that the airplane motor has irrevocably destroyed England's insular position.

"Nobody in Germany underestimates the daring and efficiency of British pilots and their excellent machines. It is no empty boast when we trust in the excellency of our air defense and pursuit planes. Whoever of the French and Russian pilots encountered the anti-aircraft power of the Condor legion in Spain knows that our air defense is terrifying—if he happened to survive it.

"To Cassel or Nuremberg the enemy flyers must come a long way and would come from one hill into the other. Even if many took off only a few planes would see Cassel or Nuremberg and how many would return?"

Damage to America Seen.

While England continued to be treated as Germany's enemy No. 1, the German press commented on America's denunciation of the Japanese trade treaty.

The Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung said America's action will damage both partners since "economically they are dependent on one another to a large extent."

"The sharp reaction in Japan is understandable, since Japan has always and especially since the Chinese war striven to have good relations with America," it added.

"The denunciation reveals America's indignation over England's attitude and also America's weakness in the far east," the Nachtausgabe said.

DUTCH CABINET FALLS AFTER FOUR DAYS IN OFFICE

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands, July 27 (AP).—Political circles believed tonight that Laurentius Nicolaas Deckers, Catholic party leader, would be called upon to form a new cabinet after causing the surprise downfall of the four-day-old government of Dr. Hendrikus Colijn.

Colijn, who resigned with his government on June 30, and then announced formation of a new "business cabinet" on Monday, was defeated by a Catholic led opposition in parliament by a vote of 55 to 27 today.

The Catholic party's old quarrel with Colijn's pay as you go policy was the cause of the overthrow. The Catholics propose to borrow for national defense and unemployment relief expenditures.

Nazis Behead Youth as Spy for 'Neighboring State'

BERLIN, July 27 (AP).—Friedrich Lopata, 21 years old, of Nuremberg was decapitated today for disclosing military secrets to the intelligence service of a "neighboring state." The beheading brought to twenty-four the executions of convicted spies this year.

DANZIG IMPOSES NEW RESTRICTION ON JEWS' WEALTH

Emigrant Holdings to Be Frozen Indefinitly.

FREE CITY OF DANZIG, July 27 (AP).—Nazis of Danzig hope to turn over to Germany soon a community which has almost completely solved its own Jewish problem, party leaders said tonight. Another step toward the 100 per cent Aryanization of the free city was taken today as machinery was set up to dispose of property still held by Jews and to put brakes on the outward flow of Jewish wealth.

The Aryanization of Danzig has been going on since 1936. The Danzig senate bought the Central synagogue, several Jewish cemeteries and other properties, and the proceeds have been used largely in helping poor Jews emigrate.

4,000 Jews Remain.

Today there were approximately 4,000 Jews left in Danzig, most of them trying to get out and some with prospects of leaving soon. Some 18,000 have emigrated since 1936.

Up to now, on departure, Jews were permitted to convert their holdings into cash and withdraw it in semi-monthly instalments. Under the new regulations payment will be made into blocked accounts, to remain frozen for an indefinite time.

Deny It Is Confiscation.

Officials denied that the procedure amounted to confiscation of Jewish wealth still remaining here.

Marian Chodacki, Polish commissioner to Danzig, demanded in a note to the Danzig senate today stern disciplinary action against the slayer of a Polish frontier soldier, Vitold Budziewicz, who was killed a week ago. Danzigers said Budziewicz was killed by Max Stein in self-defense. Poles insisted Stein fired across the frontier without warning.

Austrian Province Expels Jews.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 27.—Jewish community leaders in Vienna today declared that all Jews left in the Austrian province of Styria have been notified they must leave by Aug. 1. Of 5,000 Jews formerly living in Styria, only 300 are left. Fifty per cent of these have obtained permission to emigrate. The rest must seek haven in the already overburdened Jewish community in Vienna.

$8,000,000 to Help Jews.

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

VIENNA, July 27.—A sum of $8,000,000 was reported today to have been deposited in Milan, Italy, to assist Jewish emigrants. Charles Chaplin, Hollywood actor, and other Jews were named as important contributors to the fund, which was placed at the disposal of the Jewish aid committee. It is understood 1,000 Jews have left Vienna for Italy.

Freed in Court

Mrs. Charlotte Dry, discharged in Safety court yesterday on charge of reckless driving.

Judge Francis Borrelli in Safety court yesterday discharged the defendants in three cases involving alleged reckless driving. In one case he rebuked a policeman, Edward J. Landis of the trafic division, who preferred charges against Mrs. Charlotte Dry, 3750 Lake Shore drive, wife of Dr. Frank M. Dry, a physician, after she had bumped his car.

In dismissing the charge against the woman, Judge Borrelli said to Landis, "Even if there were facts to substantiate this charge, which there aren't, you, according to the witnesses, have acted as no policeman should." This referred to testimony that Landis called Mrs. Dry a "road-hog." Mrs. Dry testified she bumped the policeman's car after her car had, in turn, been bumped from the rear on June 25.

Mr. and Mrs. William Ritter, 2339 West Monroe street, were freed after they testified they did not know they had sidewiped a car on July 11 driven by Alex Pilurs, 6231 South Park avenue, who pursued and halted them. The third discharge freed two men whose automobiles figured in a crash on May 7 in which two persons were killed and eight injured.

The drivers were Aubrey Smith, Gary, Ind., and Chester Leart, 13235 Brandon avenue. Both were exonerated at a coroner's inquest.

CELEBRATES 92D BIRTHDAY.

Milledgeville, Ill., July 27 [Special].—Mrs. Anna Dieterle, who came to this country on a sailing vessel from Germany when she was 16 years old, celebrated her 92d birthday anniversary yesterday. The boat trip lasted 42 days and she then traveled from New York to Sterling on a freight train which also carried passengers, making the journey in a week.

SENATOR RAPS FREE SPENDING PLAN AS FRAUD

Socialism Is New Deal's Aim, George Warns.

which he said they were presumed to know.

Attacks Roosevelt Doctrine.

Senator George assailed the doctrine, which he said emanated from high places, that a national debt is a national blessing because we owe it to ourselves. President Roosevelt embraced this doctrine in his speech before the national retailers' forum in Washington on May 22.

"At the base of that doctrine is the suggestion that we may repudiate the debt," he said. "When the nation reaches that point, it is gone." Alluding further to the President's defense of spending before the retailers' forum, the senator continued:

"There are strange new doctrines in this country and one of them is that a deficit is a blessing. That doctrine is contrary to all past teaching. It does not square with good morals. It does not have a single element of common sense in it.

"But I understand that we live in a new day and therefore a deficit is a blessing; that if we borrow sufficient money we will increase the national income and ultimately the revenues, without altering the tax structure, will be so increased that we will be able to take care of the deficit.

Impractical, He Declares.

"That is one of the most consoling doctrines that was ever devised—I was about to say, Mr. President, in the empty heads of visionaries and dreamers—for certainly there is nothing practical in any man's judgment who reaches any such conclusion as that. If that conclusion is sound, all the problems of this nation and every other would be solved simply by following it."

Senator George recalled that A. A. Berle, assistant secretary of state and one of President Roosevelt's financial brain trusters, proposed the new formula of spending by lending outside the federal budget when he appeared before the monopoly investigating committee. He referred to the following statement by Berle:

"Briefly, the government will have to enter into the direct financing of activities now supposed to be private; and a continuance of that direct financing must mean inevitably that the government will control and own those activities. . . . Over a period of years the government gradually will come to own most of the productive plants of the United States."

Sees Threat to Enterprise.

Of this forecast, Senator George said:

"It will if we capitalize our federal spending. We are establishing state socialism. When we establish state socialism, what is the answer? Private enterprise must die.

"Berle was right and I must assume that men like Berle understand and purpose this forward movement into state control and state capitalism to the point where free enterprise must go down and out.

"There is but one way to go, and that is to recognize what always has been true and what always must be true—that there cannot be economic regimentation and control without the loss ultimately of political and civil liberty itself."

Since 1933, Senator George declared, the Roosevelt administration has been traveling in one direction—spending. He said he did not think that any one would contend that it had solved the problem of unemployment, of agriculture, of general business.

Cites 40 Billion Debt.

"Yet we are now invited to follow that same course," he continued. "We are not at all dismayed because the national debt has increased to more than 40 billion dollars. We are not at all dismayed because the carrying charges, the interest upon that national debt, will next year amount to more than 1 billion dollars.

"We are not at all disturbed because through the various corporations and lending agencies of the government we now have outstanding obligations of more than 5½ billion dollars in addition to the national debt of which the treasury itself takes cognizance.

"Not only that, Mr. President, but we have come to the sorriest plight of concealing the true character of the national obligations by taking a circuitous route around the treasury itself, in order that the obligations may not show as a national liability."

SUPERHIGHWAY HINT GAINED IN N. Y. ROAD TOUR

Barrier to Cross Trafic Is Found to Be Big Aid.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 27.—At least one idea for the location of Chicago's superhighway routes has been impressed upon Chicago and Cook county engineers during three days of driving the express roadways of this metropolitan area. The idea is: Continuous grade separation, an essential for fast travel with safety, can be obtained with a minimum of expense and a minimum of disturbance to neighborhoods by building new superhighways abutting an existing barrier to cross trafic.

The barrier most common in New York is water. The water front of the Hudson river carries an elevated highway for seventy-two blocks north from near the tip of Manhattan, and express travel continues north on the river's bank for seven and a half miles in Henry Hudson parkway, similar to Chicago's outer drives.

Drive Is Being Extended.

On the other side of the borough an East river drive is being extended along the water front so that eventually this populous island will be bordered by superhighways as well as by water. On the Long Island approach to the Triborough bridge the Grand Central parkway, another superhighway, skirts Flushing bay.

"In Chicago," said Harry W. Lochner, design engineer of the Cook county highway department, "we do not have as many water closing and dead-ending streets as has New York. We do have Lake Michigan, which offers a site for the outer drives that does provide a barrier to cross trafic.

"Away from the lake front the existing barriers to cross trafic in Chicago are not water but the railroad embankments and railroad yards that radiate from the loop. Here superhighways might be located without any new obstruction to the use of the surface streets."

Study Plans for Ten Years.

With Lochner in this study are Leroy H. Cather, consulting engineer for the city of Chicago, and Duncan M. Campbell, chief engineer of the Cook county highway department. They are studying the general principles and the details of superhighway design as they have been developed here through more than ten years of experience. What has been learned by the profession in this decade of experimenting here will be incorporated into Chicago's plans.

The statutes authorizing issuance of 60 million dollars of gas tax anticipation notes for the superhighway construction require Chicago and Cook county to file their superhighway plans with the department of public works at Springfield before March 1, 1940. The engineers are proceeding with their studies, while lawyers for the city and county are preparing a test case so that the Illinois Supreme court may pass on the validity of the financial arrangement.

10 MISSING AND 24 SAVED AS 2 SHIPS COLLIDE IN A FOG

LONDON, July 27 (AP).—Ten persons were missing and twenty-four were rescued today from the French tanker Sunik. The vessel caught fire after a collision with the Swedish steamer Grangesberg in a dense fog in the English channel about fifty miles south of Plymouth.

Arrow shows where ships collided.

The Grangesberg was badly damaged in the bow and her radio was put out of action. She was trying to make Falmouth under her own power. Lloyd's reported the British steamer Dartford rescued twenty-four of the Sunik's crew. The Sunik is a 5,000 ton vessel and the Grangesberg 4,575 tons.

River Forest Will Build 3½ Miles of Water Mains

Construction of a $167,528 addition to the water system of River Forest, which will be built by WPA labor, will start Tuesday, Village Clerk Purdy W. Hazelton said yesterday. Three and one half miles of water mains are to be built. The village obtained a federal grant of $89,621 for the project and issued water revenue bonds to finance the remainder of the cost.

Five people were injured slightly when a beer truck and an automobile collided at Skokie highway and Dundee road in Northbrook. The injured, all of whom were riding in the car, were Martin Dahlberg, 1026 Angle avenue, Northbrook; his two sons, Richard, 12 years old, and Donald, 11, and two girls, Phyllis Watson and Florence Fishneck, both 11, of Schermer avenue in Northbrook. The truck, owned by the Fruit Belt Beverage company of Stevensville, Mich., was driven by Theodore Tucker, St. Joseph, Mich.

MANTON REPEATS STORY OF LOAN IN ATTORNEY'S CASE

New York, July 27 [Special].—Former Judge Martin T. Manton, recently convicted of dispensing bargain counter justice, sentenced to two years in federal prison and fined $10,000, was a witness today in the federal court disbarment proceedings against Louis B. Levy, head of the law firm of Stanchfield & Levy, and Paul M. Hahn, vice president of the American Tobacco company.

The disbarment proceedings grew out of an action charged against Manton in May, 1932, in the matter of a loan from Levy or one of Levy's clients at a time when the lawyer was representing the American Tobacco company before Manton's court. Manton was senior judge of the United States Court of Appeals.

Manton repeated the same story he had related at his own trial. It was to the effect that early in May, 1932, he had told Levy that his business partner, the late James J. Sullivan, wanted a loan.

The loan, which amounted to $250,000, was obtained from Albert D. Lasker, former president of Lord & Thomas, an advertising agency, and found its way into Manton controled enterprises after the judge had ruled favorably in a decision affecting the American Tobacco company.

NAB ONE LEGGED DRIVER FLEEING AFTER ACCIDENT

Harry C. Foster, 60 years old, a salesman, of Pottsville, Pa., lost his left leg in an automobile accident in Florida two years ago. He walks with a crutch. But he is still an automobile driver. By the use of a special device he operates his clutch and brake with one foot and feeds gasoline by hand.

Last night, in front of 1721 Monroe street, Foster's car struck and injured Harold West, 19 years old, 1406 Harrison street, an ice cream vendor. The one legged driver sped on. He was pursued by a witness and arrested near a hotel at 1812 Washington boulevard, where he was staying.

West, after receiving treatment for his hurts, went to the Warren avenue station and charged Foster with driving while intoxicated and leaving the scene of an accident. Police said Foster was unable to tell a coherent story of the accident.

THREE PAROLEES OF ST. CHARLES SENT TO JOLIET

Three parolees from the St. Charles school for boys, who confessed robbing eight filling stations, pleaded guilty yesterday before Judge John C. Lewe in Criminal court and were sentenced to one year to life in Joliet penitentiary. They are: Willie Vortes, 19 years old; Crawford Jones, 19, and Willie Woods, 20, all colored. Assistant State's Attorney Julius Sherwin said all were paroled within the last year. The charge on which they were sentenced was the robbery of a filling station at 3723 South Michigan avenue.

BEWARE! TRAFIC SLOWPOKES AND 2 LANE DRIVERS

Police Start Drive Monday Against Violators.

If you are a slowpoke driver, a lane-straddler, or a nonsignaler, or if you are addicted to weaving in and out of trafic, you had better stick to lonely roads after Sunday. On Monday every one will be after you: city, Park district, county, and state police.

Heads of the four law enforcing agencies met yesterday in the Palmer House at the invitation of Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club. All agreed to launch an intensive trafic law enforcement and educational campaign on Monday.

Nonsignalers to Be Hit.

Police will concentrate on drivers who hog the road, those who drive in two lanes at once, those who cut in and out, and those who stop or turn right or left without giving a hand signal.

Present at the meeting yesterday were Police Commissioner James P. Allman, Walter Williams, superintendent of state police; James B. Kerr, head of the Park district police, and Lester Laird, chief of the county highway police. Others who attended were George Donoghue, superintendent of the Chicago Park district; Otto Jelinek, chief trafic engineer for the Park district; George W. Barton, Motor club engineer; Ald. George D. Kells [28th], chairman of the council trafic and public safety committee, and Hayes.

Allman Maps Drive.

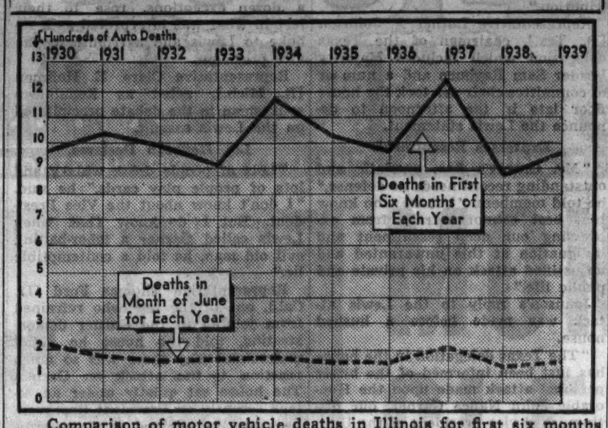
Commissioner Allman announced that he would hold a meeting of police lieutenants today and instruct them to open the campaign Monday by educational methods. If this proves ineffective, he said, arrest slips will follow.

Williams said his men would patrol the state highways Monday, concentrating on keeping the center lanes clear except of passing cars. Chief Laird's force will begin passing out educational pamphlets as soon as they are ready. These are being prepared by the Motor club.

ENGINEERS PLAN STATE-WABASH PEDESTRIAN SPAN

Details of a plan for a pedestrian bridge to connect the north approach of the dismantled State street bridge to the north approach of the Wabash avenue bridge, just north of the river bank, are being completed by city engineers, Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, said yesterday. He said an outline of the plan has been submitted to business men north of the bridge on State street, who have agreed that it is needed while the new bridge is being constructed. Hewitt said it will be about two years before the new bridge is completed.

Illinois Auto Fatalities Climb



Comparison of motor vehicle deaths in Illinois for first six months of each year since 1930 and for the month of June in each of the years.

Trafic Increases

Springfield, Ill., July 27 [Special].—Motor vehicle fatalities in Illinois continued upward in June when 159 persons were killed on the highways, state safety engineers reported today.

For the first six months of the year 964 trafic deaths were reported, which was an 8 per cent increase over the same period in 1938. The June increase over 1938 was 20 per cent.

The engineers believe the mounting death rate is due not to lower driving standards, but to the great increase in highway usage. Motorists today, they said, travel 8,040,000 miles between each fatality, as compared with 5,023,000 miles nine years ago.

FRISCO FAIR PAYS HONOR TO KELLY ON CHICAGO DAY

San Francisco, Cal., July 27 [Special].—Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago and his party were guests of honor at the Golden Gate exposition here yesterday, which was Chicago day. Accompanying him were Mrs. Kelly, Robert J. Dunham, Chicago commissioner of parks, and Mrs. Dunham.

Following an official welcome from Mayor Angelo J. Rossi of San Francisco, the Chicago party was driven to the Illinois building in a victoria drawn by a pair of white horses. The party was escorted by the red coated exposition band.

The Illinois building was crowded with visitors waiting to hear Mayor Kelly. He was presented with an exposition medal and named mayor of Treasure Island, the fair grounds, for the day.

Odd Work Hours of Hotel Detective Bring Divorce

Jack Pinkert, 28 years old, testified yesterday before Judge Walter J. La Buy that his wife, Lillian, of 4541 Broadway, deserted him because she objected to his job and the odd hours it entailed. Pinkert is a house detective in a loop hotel. Judge La Buy granted him a divorce.

Sun Sets Off Blast; Part of Algiers Razed; 6 Killed

ALGIERS, July 27 (AP).—Part of the port of Algiers was destroyed today by a fire and explosion which killed six dock workers and burned ten others so severely they are not expected to live. Thirty others were injured less severely. The explosion was set off by the African sun burning down on gasoline drums. Damage was estimated at between $416,000 and $420,000.

'Galloping Ghost of China Coast' Ordered to Chicago

Washington, D. C., July 27 (AP).—The 25 year old gunboat Sacramento, famous in the navy as the former "Galloping Ghost of the China coast," was ordered today to Chicago to train naval reservists. The Sacramento for five years haunted troubled spots in the far east as part of the Asiatic fleet.

DRIVER IS KILLED WHEN HIS TRUCK TIPS ON HIGHWAY

Lawrence Laudler, 31 years old, 8713 Blackstone avenue, was killed yesterday when a truck he was driving overturned near Tipton, Ind.

THE STORY OF A GREAT LIBRARY (3)

By CALEB

THE Spring of 1872 blossomed and sang over a Chicago still black with the previous October's ruin. Where to house the precious book arrivals from England was the Library Association's problem. The city government itself had had to be content with a two-story brick structure erected on a lot at the southeast corner of La Salle and Adams streets—immediately dubbed "The Rookery"—and on the rear of this same lot stood a circular, 58-foot iron water-tank, on a 30-foot stone basement, that was entirely fireproof.

To this tank the city council authorized erection of a third-story addition, 50x54 feet, fitted up with bookshelves, and having an outer stairway approach, for use as a reading room. Here, the Chicago Public Library resumed operations; and fittingly enough, the first book to be withdrawn went to Thomas Hoyne, president of the Library's first official Board of Directors, and was entitled, Tom Brown's Schooldays, by Thomas Hughes. . . . The shelves of this curious library accommodated some 17,000 volumes; and the reading room thus provided was equipped with six long tables and seventy-two chairs.

Subsequent events of the Library's fascinating story can only be highlighted. The succession of its chief librarians has been an illustrious one. William Frederick Poole, famous as originator of Poole's Index to Periodical Literature, was elected librarian in 1873, and served with distinction until 1887, when, at 65, he resigned to organize the Newberry Library of Chicago. Frederick H. Hild succeeded him, serving for twenty-two years, and was followed by Henry E. Legler, who died in 1917—to be succeeded by the present librarian, Carl B. Roden. Meantime, inevitable changes of the Library's headquarters involved removal to the Dickey Building, at Lake and Dearborn, in May, 1875; and eleven years later, a second move to the fourth floor of the City Hall, occupied for another eleven years.

Agitation looking to a permanent library site began as early as 1879; and after legislative delays and resumptions, Dearborn Park—in the 70's and 80's a vacant quadrangle of 62,500 square feet at Randolph, Michigan, Washington and Garland—was fixed on as the location. There, amid impressive ceremonies, the cornerstone of the present $2,000,000 Chicago Public Library was laid, on Thanksgiving Day, 1893.

A summary, to be given shortly, of what this splendid exemplar of world-famous institutions is doing to serve modern-day Chicago, will conclude the present series.

JOHN L. LEWIS HITS GARNER AS 'EVIL OLD MAN'

lions of Americans by conducting this intrigue that he has been conducting in recent weeks in this congress on every proposal that protected the rights of labor or sought to give labor increased or additional privilege."

"We want this [wage-hour] act to have a chance!" he shouted.

"We do not understand the necessity for this spectacle that has recently confronted the republic, in the house of representatives, where the Republican minority, aided by a band of 100 or more renegade Democrats, have conducted a war dance around the bounden, prostrate form of labor in the well of that house, whirling like dervishes, and dancing with glee when that extraordinary combination is able to do something to hamstring labor in the United States."

Denounces Amendments.

In his denunciation of proposed amendments, exempting certain classes of workers, particularly in the agricultural field, from the forty-four hour week, Lewis employed some novel comparisons.

"Certainly, the Amalgamated Association of Porch Climbers and Sneak Thieves would like to get together and have the various state acts covering their professions amended, so that they might take ladies' purses with impunity," he roared, "or that county fairs might be made more convenient for the purposes of that association by refusing to have the police interfere with them."

"It is only asking in this instance, before this house, that it be permitted to the least of them to be assured of twenty-five lousy cents an hour," he exclaimed.

The labor head was uninterrupted during his attack. At his conclusion, most of the members continued to regard him curiously as he subsided in his chair, panting from the violence of his outburst. Only Mrs. Mary T. Norton [D., N. J.], chairman of the committee which has been blocking the wage-hour amendments, spoke up, thanked him for his "valuable contribution."

Representative Luther A. Johnson [D., Tex.], chairman of the Texas delegation which includes Majority Leader Sam Rayburn and a number of committee chairmen took the house floor late in the afternoon to denounce the Lewis statement.

Expresses Resentment.

"Mr. Garner's fine, patriotic and outstanding record needs no defense," he told members, "but we who know him best cannot refrain from expressing our deep resentment and indignation at this unwaranted and unjustified attack on his private and public life."

Johnson's reply to the Lewis attack was made before a hushed house.

"The Texas delegation in the house has just been informed of the bitter personal attack made upon the Honorable John Nance Garner, our distinguished vice president of the United States, before the house labor committee today by John L. Lewis," he began.

Declares Garner Always Fair.

"For 30 years, Mr. Garner was an honored member of this house and served with distinction as Democratic leader and also as speaker, having retired as speaker to become vice president. Mr. Garner has always been absolutely fair, impartial, and just in dealing with labor and all legislation for the betterment of humanity. The Texas delegation has complete confidence in his honesty, integrity, and ability."

There was widespread comment among senate and house members as a result of the attack. Even ardent New Dealers, who regard Garner as a foe to their "liberal" program, agreed that the labor leader had gone too far in his personal abuse of a Vice President of the United States.

"My reaction to John L. Lewis' dastardly, untrue, and unwaranted attack on Vice President Garner is that it should be considered as a priceless compliment to Mr. Garner's untarnished record of unselfish public service, personal honor, integrity, patriotism, courage, and American heritage," said Representative Dick Kleberg [D., Tex.].

A noisy demonstration, participated in by both Republicans and Democrats, greeted these words. Whistles and cheers echoed in the chamber as members, with less than a dozen exceptions, rose to their feet in what was interpreted as a rebuke to Lewis and a tribute to the vice president.

Lie, Hoffman Declares.

"Lots of people drink whisky and lots of people play cards," he said. "I don't know about the Vice President. But I do know that when Lewis called Garner a labor-baiting evil old man, he told a contemptible lie."

Representative Thomas Ford [D., Cal.], one of the few who refrained from joining in the Garner demonstration, told the house he didn't understand why there was so much reaction to the attack on Garner. The house sat quietly under an attack recently on President Roosevelt, he said. He referred to Representative Dewey Short's characterization of the President, during debate on the Roosevelt library memorial, as a "egocentric megalomaniac."

Garner Only Chuckles.

Garner himself chuckled.

"I have no comment to make," he said. "I never make criticisms or comment on anything."

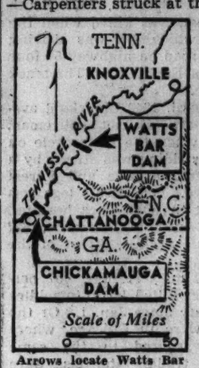
The Lewis statement resulted in prompt action by the rules committee which has been deadlocked over the question of giving right of way to the wage-hour amendments and the 800 million dollar housing act.

The committee approved a special rule permitting consideration of the Norton bill making minor amendments to the act with the proviso that attempts could be made on the floor to substitute the Barden bill which exempts from the 44 hour work week many classes of agricultural workers.

The committee also voted a rule for the housing bill which it shelved last Monday. The southern Democrats who voted against the housing bill on that occasion were weakened in their stand by the concessions on wage-hour amendments. They also were prompted by a belief that the house will kill the housing bill in any event. Debate on the housing act will begin tomorrow and a vote on it is expected Saturday.

CARPENTERS STRIKE ON TVA DAM JOBS OVER PILING WORK

Knoxville, Tenn., July 27 [Special].—Carpenters struck at the Tennessee Valley Authority dam project at Watts Bar, above Chattanooga, on the Tennessee river today in a jurisdictional dispute between carpenters and iron workers over which shall supply the labor for piling jobs.



Arrows locate Watts Bar and Chickamauga dams.

Following the Watts Bar walkout carpenters on the Chickamauga dam project quit their jobs. Union officials said every dam project on the river would be struck if the terms were not met.

Gordon Clapp, TVA personnel director, said here that the construction department had been obliged to draw on iron workers to get sufficient experienced piling men to handle the jobs despite an American Federation of Labor ruling that the carpenters should have jurisdiction over the piling work.

EXPECT FRANCO TO NAME ARMY MEN TO CABINET

Dictator Fights Bickering by Political Factions.

BURGOS, Spain, July 27 (AP).—A cabinet meeting expected to produce a new ministry to hasten peacetime reconstruction today was postponed from tomorrow until Saturday with indications that Gen. Francisco Franco might draw in high ranking army men of special abilities to fill several key positions.

Observers said an effort would be made to keep political considerations in the background to prevent any factional feeling among groups which supported the Nationalist cause during the war. All political factions supporting Franco in the war were welded into one party then, and Franco wants to keep them so.

Exiled Republicans Split.

PARIS, July 27 (AP).—A split among exiled leaders of the overthrown Spanish republic today left former Premier Juan Negrin shorn of authority and gave the reins of the government in exile to a permanent committee of the last cortes [parliament].

Although the Republican [Loyalist] government has no territory to govern since Gen. Franco's victory, it does have jurisdiction over $47,000,000 in cash, war materials, and other property sent to Mexico for safekeeping.

Opponents of the faction which Negrin and former Foreign Minister Julio Alvarez del Vayo head claim to represent the more moderate wing of the Spanish leftist coalition. They accused Negrin and Del Vayo of favoring the communists.

Help for Loyalist Refugees.

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

MEXICO CITY, July 27.—Interest was aroused here today by reports from Paris that leaders of the exiled Spanish Republican government had decided to apply the $47,000,000 in cash, war materials, and other property deposited to its account in Mexico to settling Spanish refugees in this country.

This sum amounts to about three-fourths of Mexico's total state revenue for the current fiscal year. It may be presumed that, greatly as Spanish refugees have hitherto been welcomed in official circles, the gold with which they are reported to be accompanied will be even more welcome.

Los Angeles Police Hold Chicago Slaying Suspect

The detective bureau was notified last night that Tom White, 45 years old, had been arrested in Los Angeles, Cal. He was held at the request of Chicago authorities in connection with the murder of Abe Levin. Levin was stabbed to death at 1659 Monroe street on June 27, 1933, according to police records. White told Los Angeles police he knew nothing of the slaying.

ASK SOVIETS AND RUMANIA TO GIVE CHURCH LIBERTY

Baptist World Alliance Assails Oppression.

Atlanta, Ga., July 27 (AP).—The Baptist World alliance insisted today upon maintenance of absolute religious liberty for all men, and voted to protest directly to Russian and Rumanian envoys against conditions in those countries.

The sixth congress of the alliance unanimously approved two resolutions criticizing these nations and authorized deputations to present the resolutions to Washington representatives of the two governments.

The resolution on soviet Russia said: "The members of this congress deeply deplore the fact that the government of the U. S. S. R. has maintained through many years and still maintains an attitude and a policy of hostility to religion."

Appeal to Rumania.

Rumania was urged to grant full religious freedom and give the Baptist communion legal status as a recognized church.

Dr. James Henry Rushbrooke of London, newly elected alliance president, said he would name the deputations before the congress closes tomorrow.

"In continuance of our consistent Baptist practice," said a resolution on religious freedom, "we are imperatively constrained again to insist upon the full maintenance of absolute religious liberty for every man of every faith and of no faith."

Oppose All Oppression.

Reiterating a racial stand taken in 1934 at Berlin, the Baptists declared: "This congress deplores and condemns as a violation of the law of God . . . all racial animosity, and every form of oppression or unfair discrimination toward Jews, toward colored people, or toward subject races in any part of the world."

A temperance resolution asked all Baptists by personal example and temperance education to rid the world of the evils of intoxicants.

Decision on a 1944 meeting place was postponed and referred to the executive committee because of disturbed world conditions. Invitations have come from Rangoon, India; Budapest, Hungary, and Scotland and England.

HORNER VETOES MEASURE TO BAR DOUBLE MOVIES

Springfield, Ill., July 27 [Special].—Before he left for Highland Park and a rest today Gov. Horner vetoed the Sandquist bill designed to eliminate double features from motion picture houses. The governor declared that this measure, which would limit shows to two hours and fifteen minutes, was unconstitutional, on the basis of an opinion from Attorney General John E. Cassidy.

The governor quoted Cassidy as citing past Supreme court decisions holding that the power of the general assembly to regulate a lawful occupation extended only to such measures as were reasonably necessary and appropriate for the accomplishment of a legitimate object within the domain of police power, and in such instances where public welfare was at stake.

"This bill," the governor said, "contains no reference to the quality of motion picture films exhibited and consequently was not intended to protect public morals, safety, or welfare. In the absence of competent scientific proof to the contrary, there is no reason to believe that public health will be adversely affected by motion picture exhibits lasting more than two hours and fifteen minutes."

The bill was urged as a health measure, on the grounds that shows of four or five hours length were harmful to eyes.

2 Victims Identify Bandit Arrested by Policewoman

Anthony Horvath, who was arrested in Grant park last week by Park Policewoman Alice McCarthy, was identified as a bandit by two victims at the detective bureau showup last night. The victims are Edwin Gray, 5012 Altield street, and Miss Mary E. Fitzpatrick, 2517 Prairie avenue, who were held up in separate robberies near the outer drive. Police said Horvath has confessed thirty holdups.

Ogunquit, Me., July 27 [Special].—Diana Barrymore Blythe, 18 years old, a daughter of Actor John Barrymore, hopes to be the fifth member of the famed American theater family to land starring rôles on the stage. Toward that end she is rehearsing in a production of the Manhattan theater colony at the Ogunquit playhouse.

SEIZES TAVERN TOUGH; K. O.'s HIM AFTER A CHASE

Patrolman Joseph Meagher of First district police was walking to the Bryn Mawr elevated station about 2 a. m. this morning when Albert Jensen, proprietor of the La Playa tavern, 5550 Winthrop avenue, stopped him. Jensen reported that a man inside the tavern was making threats and waving a gun. Meagher searched the man and took from him a .32 caliber revolver and a pair of brass knuckles.

The man broke loose as Meagher was taking him from the tavern and ran down the alley between Winthrop and Kenmore avenues, but the policeman overtook him and knocked him out with the fugitive's own gun. The man was taken to Edgewater hospital and then to the Bridewell hospital, where he was unconscious and unidentified. Meagher, who lives at 5457 Winthrop avenue, has been on the force less than a year, and is the youngest of four brothers who are all policemen. His father was a former police captain.

DIES AFTER POOLROOM ATTACK.

THE JAPANESE TRADE TREATY.

Secretary Hull of the state department has notified the Japanese government that the United States desires the trade treaty of 1911 to be terminated and expire. Six months' notice is required. The American government will be free to deal with Japanese commercial questions as it pleases after Jan. 26. Mr. Hull's action was unexpected. The day before he had said no change in policy was contemplated.

Escape from the treaty was first proposed in the senate by Senator Vandenberg in connection with Senator Pittman's resolution for an embargo against Japan. At Mr. Vandenberg's suggestion both his and the Pittman resolutions were sent to Mr. Hull for consideration. The Pittman resolution is recognized as a hostile act. It would break a treaty and declare a half way war on Japanese commerce.

Also preceding Mr. Hull's notification to Japan was the British agreement to recognize the special requirements of the Japanese army in China and to refrain from interfering with the measures taken to promote security and order. Britain's enemies have greeted this as the grand back-down of the empire and are making the most of it. Mr. Hull had said that the British recognition of something almost equivalent to belligerency would not affect the American position, but he added that the United States government was much disturbed by the grave incidents affecting Americans and their interests, including attacks upon individuals and destruction of property.

A great deal of curiosity is aroused by the state department's action. It can mean any one of several things. No exception can be taken to the wording of the note. Mr. Hull merely says that in recent years the United States government has been examining the treaties of commerce and navigation with foreign countries with a view to determining what changes should be made better to serve the purposes of the agreements and in the course of this survey has come to the conclusion that the treaty with Japan contains provisions which need new consideration.

Such a note might have been sent if Japan was at peace. It does not threaten anything except covertly by implication. The purpose of the government is probably locked in the minds of Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Hull. The good or evil effect will not come from the note itself but from the uses made of the freedom from the treaty obligations. The advocates of an embargo against Japan—of the half way war—will think their position is strengthened. It will be. There will be no treaty to restrain them. They may believe that Mr. Roosevelt at last has been won to his own arguments for the quarantine of aggressors and the defense of the Chinese treaties and the Kellogg peace pact.

A government less disposed to intervene in foreign conflicts could use the abrogation of the trade treaty as an advantage in negotiating for the protection of Americans and the guarding of their interests without threatening war in the interest of some other nation or nations. That would be proper. Although Japan has endeavored to conciliate American opinion and promote friendship, there have been incidents in China offensive to American pride, hurtful to United States citizens, and damaging to their property. Americans do not like this. But they distinguish between a policy which insists upon protection for Americans and one which advances the cause of other nations.

The situation which Mr. Hull has created will depend upon the uses made of it.

THE SUPERHIGHWAY ACTS.

The bills authorizing the issuance of notes to be retired by gas tax collections, for the purpose of building a superhighway system in Cook county, have become law.

Gov. Horner, while he was not entirely satisfied that the financing plan was constitutional, allowed them to become law because they are to be subjected to a test before the Supreme court. Such a review, it is hoped, will be sought soon. It will be impossible to issue any securities until it is had and a favorable ruling obtained.

The acts also set a time limit, requiring that specific routes and designs of highways must be filed by the authorities of Cook county and the city of Chicago by next March 1. For a project of this importance, this is a short period, although fortunately the matter of superhighway routes has been discussed thoroughly in the past. Even so, no time is to be lost if local governments are to avail themselves of the highly favorable provisions of the acts. Hearings should be started immediately, without waiting for the end of the vacation period.

The west side has a clear claim to priority in routes. Citizens of the north and south sides will concede this if they will abandon their own high speed trafic ways and attempt the harrowing experiment of driving on a crowded west side boulevard during the rush hour.

With potential grants of state and federal highway funds, the superhighway projects may receive as much as $139,000,000 during the next ten years. While the sum appears considerable, the task is a large one and the fund will fall far short of its objective unless great care is taken to prevent wasteful construction methods.

Engineers are in rather general agreement that the elevated highway requires a minimum of expenditures for rights of way and offers the maximum service to trafic for each dollar expended. Wide parkways, on the other hand, are likely to see too large a percentage of funds dissipated in expensive condemnation costs. These facts should be kept in mind in specifying the type of superhighways to be built.

THE DOCTORS UPHELD.

The indictment against the American Medical association, a number of affiliated societies, and twenty-one of their officers and members has been dismissed by United States District Judge James M. Proctor. A spokesman for the attorney general has said that an appeal will be taken.

The defendants had been charged with violating the anti-trust laws. The judge said there could have been no violation because these laws are directed against conspiracies in business or trade, whereas the practice of medicine is a profession and therefore wholly outside the scope of the acts. Further than that, he found the indictments to be "afflicted with vague and uncertain statements," which "smacked of highly colored, argumentative discourse."

The rebuke to the administration and its anti-trust division was as sharp as it was merited. The tables have now been turned. The doctors have been acquitted of any intention to violate any law; the administration has been convicted of a conspiracy to abuse the law and its processes.

The indictments were obtained because the doctors, through their associations, had chosen not to fall in with the New Dealers' notions of the way in which medicine should be practiced. As usual, the administration could not tolerate dissent. There was no law which the attorney general could invoke against the doctors and, accordingly, the anti-trust law was stretched out of shape to cover the alleged crime.

Perhaps it was thought that the medical societies and their members would lack the courage to fight and would accept a so-called consent decree rather than run the risk of fine and imprisonment. If so, the expectation was disappointed. The doctors refused to consider a shotgun decree, they did fight, and they won a victory which may hearten others in similar circumstances to stand on their rights and resist oppression.

HAYSEED ON THE HUDSON.

Recently we have noticed in the New York newspapers an unaccustomed showing of pictures of persons whose habiliments are not quite what New Yorkers would have us believe the well-dressed Gothamite always wears. It's not that the unwonted groups are clad in buckskins or feathered headdress. Nor would they be conspicuous about Chicago where most of us are country boys once removed, and proud of it. They're the kind of folks who, if they turned around, you might expect to show a pink patch between their sunburn and their haircut.

The groups are, however, a novelty among the usual man-about-town or chic Park avenue illustrations so familiar in the New York press. And along with these current pictures of pretty clusters of girls from the prairies, of hearty mountain governors and their staffs of colonels, and of groups of Elks and Rotarians from most anywhere in the wide open spaces, featured in the hitherto "sophisticated" columns of the metropolitan journals, there has arisen a report that the cold, beady eye of the New Yorkers toward pilgrims in their midst has been softened. Warm, even friendly greetings—possibly hand grasps—are rumored.

Has New York heeded the urgings of some of its people, and for the period of the world's fair at least, cast aside its high hat and, in a studied campaign, rejoined? There has been thus far a notable shortage of visitors to the exposition—as compared with expectations—and that circumstance has caused more soul searching than Manhattan has experienced since Billy Sunday last played Madison Square Garden. As the tendency of people to stay away from the fair became more pronounced, so in direct ratio the warmth of the greeters was accelerated. Is the metropolis in peril of becoming an Americanized good fellow? The fair may yet prove to have a double value in education. Its visitors will doubtless benefit, for it is an educational institution; moreover New York may learn something valuable concerning the wild life west of the Hudson.

FARMERS AND THE PACKING STRIKE.

[Bloomington (Ill.) Pantagraph.]

The C. I. O. threat to close down Armour meat packing plants in fourteen cities may have more effect on politics than on our appetite—and the farmer holds the answer.

Labor leaders take for granted that the strike, once under way, would spread to the remaining three of the "big four" packing companies—Swift, Cudahy, and Wilson.

In such a strike the sentiment of the farmer would be an important factor—possibly the decisive factor.

Each side would woo the farmers' support; each side, as a matter of fact, has already begun to woo it. If the farmer is convinced that the union would harm live stock prices by unduly increasing the processor's costs, the packers will get an ally of incalculable value.

On the other hand, if the union can get the farmer to accept the idea that farmer and packing house workers have mutual interests where the packer is concerned, the packers will lose an ally and the union will gain one.

Which is where the 1940 political angle really begins to develop.

It goes without saying that the C. I. O. will be an important issue in the election. It also goes without saying that up to now, at any rate, the average farmer has been inclined to look on the C. I. O. as an aggregation of creatures with tails, horns, and cloven hoofs. A nation-wide packing house strike would thrust the C. I. O. on the farmer's attention as never before.

If its net result were to confirm the farmer in his distrust of labor unions generally, and the C. I. O. in particular, the effect would be unfortunate both for the C. I. O. and for an administration which was popularly regarded as a close friend of the C. I. O.

So this strike, if it comes, won't be just another strike. One way or another it is apt to bring to a head the whole involved question of organized labor, the farmers, and the administration.

RALEIGH'S LOST COLONY.

American antiquarians will thrill at the news that certain gravestones have been found in North Carolina which appear to supply evidence regarding the lost colony on Roanoke Island, established by Sir Walter Raleigh. The inscriptions are in Elizabethan spelling and lettering; the dates are 1589, 1590, and 1591. Thus, at long last, the first English settlers on this continent, who vanished without trace because of unpardonable neglect by their backers in London, may have been rediscovered.

Suspicion that these gravestones may be a hoax [there is much faking in antiquarianism] is subdued by the fact that they were found a hundred miles or more from Roanoke Island, near Greenville, N. C. A faker would have planted them on the original site, and added a neat little stone for Virginia Dare, the first English child born on this soil. The location suggests an entirely credible migration by water along the shores of Pamlico sound and up the Pamlico river.

These people were last seen in 1589, when their supply ship sailed for England. It did not return until two years later, when every trace of the colony had vanished except a few pieces of rusty armor and a word, "Croatoan," carved on a tree.

Why the neglect? Queen Elizabeth couldn't be bothered with Raleigh's colonial adventures; they were too expensive. So 108 simple and courageous folk, including seventeen women, were left to become victims of the Indians.

Now will some lucky searcher solve an even darker historical mystery—the site of Leif Eriksen's "booths" [1000 A. D.] and Thornfinn Karlsefni's settlement [1007-1010 A. D.]? We suggest a look at the Gaspé peninsula along the Baie de Chaleur.

WISH FOR A NEW HOUSE.

Within these walls may peace and plenty dwell,
May beauty bloom throughout the coming years,
And all who enter feel a magic spell
That brings content within the widening spheres.
Let laughter ring among the sunny halls,
Melody ripple when the eaves drip rain,
And in the winter when long twilight falls
May radiant firelight warm your hearts again.
When saplings you have set become tall trees
May this small house make life more worth the living,
Teach you the gracious savoring of ease
As leisure makes your friendship more worth giving.
And may six seraphs at the chimney side

Merriment in the Faculty Club.

The daily routine of a professor of English in a New England men's college was pleasantly disturbed last spring when an ambitious freshman handed in his weekly theme with this sentence included:

"Thelma stumbled on the threshold, and fell prostitute upon the floor."

After enjoying a hearty laugh, the professor pencilled this remark on the margin:

"We must learn to distinguish between a fallen woman and one who has momentarily lost her balance."

BROOKFIELD BALLAD—XIII.

(The Leopard.)

The leopard cannot change his spots,
So we've been told since we were tots;
But neither he nor we need mourn
Because of spots he's always worn;
I'm sure he would look queerer still
If he could turn them off at will.
It's better for the world to see
Us as we all are meant to be
And if we're born in speckled guise
Let's own our spots before men's eyes.

Pictures in Music—II.

["In a Persian Market": Ketelby.]

Golden sand disturbed by footsteps; a narrow street crowded with innumerable figures of innumerable colors. Black shadows under striped awnings shelter peddlers of spice or fruit, or silks. Smells are as mixed as the colors and voices, which rise to an unintelligible crescendo. A way must be forced through the crowded street by pressure against silk and linen and flesh: eyes deep in shadow peer from the folds. And painted eyes peer from secret lattices in the ageless walls above the bazaar.

Through a curved doorway, repeating itself in sunlight on the polished floor of a dark, cool hall, I pass into a courtyard. A lattice roofs it and makes squares of sunlight on the shadowed tiles below. In the center, a pool is spangled by drops of water from a fountain—the silence is intensified by the tinkling sound of their fall. Through a doorway I see a vast chamber, carpeted with rich rugs and hung with tapestries. In the midst, and surmounted by a canopy upheld by four ivory pillars, is a dais; from its shadows, as I enter, comes the sound of whispering silks. meb.

BELCHING AND SUCH.

I REMEMBER very well the first time I heard the expression "stump sucker." A neighbor was discussing with father the purchase of a horse and the description of the animal included this high sounding term. It was not until later that I learned that the words were applied to a steed [suffering from colic] that may grasp a hitching post or any fixed object with his teeth, stretch his neck, and draw air into his stomach. "Cribbing" designated the same practice, and buyers were alert to the habit.

So far as human beings are concerned we all harbor gas within the digestive tract and every X-ray film will prove its presence. It is only when the quantity becomes excessive, distending the gastric pouch or loops of intestine, that it may prove embarrassing or a source of distress.

One of the commonest of all difficulties is belching. We cannot gulp a goodly portion of the atmosphere without expecting to reject some of it. Many of us imbibe a bubble with each swallow. Particularly is this true if one is engaged in animated conversation. During the chewing process the mouth may be open much of the time. Since nature abhors a vacuum, the air flows inward. Hurriedly forcing food down the gullet mixes a considerable portion at each interval. In this connection those who are nervous or disturbed emotionally and whose mouths flood rapidly with saliva are likely to resemble the wind sucking nag which balloons his "innards."

In most cases the remedy is clear. Avoid haste and rapid fire talk. Wait to express your opinion until each bolus within the mouth has been sent on its way. Thorough mastication also is of value, as most of the froth will be squeezed out if the particles are fully broken down.

An occasional attack of nausea may be disregarded. We may ascribe this manifestation to spoiled edibles, to an infection, to overfatigue, etc., but should the symptom occur once a week or oftener it will need investigation. It may point to some systemic disease or real trouble in the alimentary canal. Whereupon—for a while, at least—we should not attempt to eat solids. Hot water, lightly salted, will be helpful if sipped slowly. Even though it is regurgitated the effect is to cleanse the pouch. Thereafter nothing should be permitted orally until the incident has passed.

"Burping" of sour material is another routine complaint which may have its basis in nervousness and often is the result of exhaustion. If we are tired mentally or physically the dissolving apparatus is far less able to function. We can understand how this happens. Following starvation or extreme weariness the gastric juices flow less readily. Under these conditions it is always wise to take nutriment in small amounts in order not to demand too much from the peptic glands. With the return of a bit of incompletely dissolved comestibles into the mouth we may infer that normal contraction is not taking place. The organ requires a vacation and it may be well to omit the next meal, using weak tea instead.

There is great virtue in rest and—with almost any type of indigestion—a bland diet pursued for a week or two not only will relieve discomfort but will abate a mild degree of irritation. In principle this is similar to a fast day now and then. While this may not be necessary for many, the omission of sustenance for twenty-four hours—using nothing but liquids with a little sugar—is an excellent health measure.

[Sample bland menus will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.]

C. F. P. writes: May a diabetes patient use honey in place of sugar?

REPLY.

Yes, but only in the proper proportion to the total daily food allowance. Honey is practically pure carbohydrate—one tablespoon, weighing 25 grams, averaging 80 to 85 calories. One tablespoon of cane sugar, weighing 13 grams, contains approximately 50 calories.

CUT OUT CAKE INSTEAD OF MILK.

Mrs. S. L. writes: My 11 year old son, who is quite stout, drinks three glasses of milk a day. I was told he should not drink milk. Is this so?

REPLY.

If your son is too stout cut out the candy, cake, and all the extras. Keep up with the milk. It is an excellent food.

WATCH THE REACTION.

M. T. writes: How is the Dick test given? What is it given for?

REPLY.

In testing for susceptibility to scarlet fever, a small amount of toxin is injected between the layers of the skin. Just as in the Schick test for diphtheria, the amount of reaction determines the degree of susceptibility.

THYROID AND SUN BATHS.

Mrs. B. writes: Is lying in the sun at the shore beneficial to a person with overactive thyroid?

REPLY.

Sunlight is a circulatory stimulant. Poison from the thyroid gland increases the rate of the heart beat. Take air baths instead—lying in the shade. Avoid the direct rays of Old Sol.

RELIEF COSTS EVERY MAN $125.

McGregor, Ia., July 26.—I have been interested in the questions you have been asking the public the last few days. "Should the government provide work relief and how many hours a day should a reliefer work?"

It seems that you could better ask the public the question in its proper form, which would be something as follows:

"It probably costs you and me, who are the government, more than $3,000,000,000 a year to provide all kinds of relief to those who say they cannot find work. Now are you, as one who has a job and will work, willing to have taken out of your year's wages $125 or more to support those who now they they need relief?"

It seems quite certain that the average worker will answer, "Yes, I think the government should provide work for those out of a job." All right, but that worker thinks some one else is paying the bill, millionaires or the like. But put it square up to them: "Are you willing to have taken out of your wages $125 a year [maybe more], to support those who say they are out of a job?"

Try it out once and see if most people do not change their answer. L. B.

PHOTOGRAPHY FOR AMATEURS.

Chicago, July 28.—Congratulations on your splendid new amateur photographic feature. It is without doubt the most intelligently comprehensive of the many I read.

Many people think the professional photographer resents the encroachment of the amateur, but I believe that the stimulus of interest in photography is more than beneficial to the profession. By all means continue this fine feature and even amplify it. LEONARD ROSS,
Director Gibson Studios.

DRAWING OF WILL.

Chicago, July 24 [Legal Friend of the People].—1. My wife and I want to make a will whereby the last one becomes sole owner. We owner a small property, the front of which I use for my business. The house is in her name and the shop in my name. The property is mortgaged. My wife has three children, all of age, from a former marriage. I have none.

2. We could change title but my income is so little that we cannot afford to do this. There is no fear of any claim from either side.

3. Is it legal when each of us makes a statement and [4] I let it be stamped by a notary and [5] signed by two witnesses, and then [6] recorded in city hall? R. H.

1. If each of you makes a will in favor of the other, it would accomplish this result, but presumably probate proceedings would be necessary.

2. As we understand your desire, a joint tenancy would satisfy them with less expense than would any other method.

3. You should handle it either by joint tenancy or by will.

4. A notary is not necessary on a will.

5. A will should have two witnesses.

6. A will need not be recorded until the death of the testator, at which time the probate proceedings would be equivalent to recording.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

TERMS OF WILL.

Chicago, July 24 [Legal Friend of the People].—My mother-in-law made a will naming the undersigned trustee. In case of her death [1] what responsibility does the trustee assume?

2. She wants to leave some cash with the trustee, which is not mentioned in her will, to her two daughters. There are five children. S. P. H.

1. Depends on the wording of the will.

2. It is not clear what question you intend to ask. We cannot pass upon the efficacy of the arrangement without having the wording before us. It seems probable that some risk would be involved in this arrangement.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

CHATTEL MORTGAGE.

Chicago, July 24 [Legal Friend of the People].—I gave a chattel mortgage a while ago and on inquiring among friends found that one said that a chattel automatically expires at the end of one year and from another one at the end of two years. Which is correct? T. G. C.

The recording operates as notice to third parties for three years. There is the possibility of a one year extension. The limitation period between the original parties is ten years from the maturity date.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

A MESS OF HYPOCRISY.

Gary, Ind., July 23.—Your editorial pointing out that France was selling iron ore to its erstwhile enemy—Hitler—is very good, but why stop with only part of the story told. Pierre Van Paasen, for twenty years foreign correspondent for American newspapers, pointed out in his recent publication—"Days of Our Years"—how the great powers secretly collaborated, while supposed to be on the point of war, and back-stabbed each other while supposed to be "allies."

France backs Italy in Ethiopia in order to threaten British power in the Sudan. Britain retaliates by allowing the Fascists a free hand in Spain, thus giving France another frontier to defend. Result: France cannot aid Czecho-Slovakia without British backing which, of course, is not forthcoming. The French hegemony of Europe is ended and France becomes a satellite of England. He shows Czecho-Slovakia supplying arms to Germany on credit and how the great war was prolonged for three years because the "allied" business men were loath to give up the contraband commerce with Germany.

According to newspaper charts and articles the United States is supplying our potential enemy in the orient [Japan] with machine tools and alloyed metals for building planes "with a cruising range equal to that of our best models" so that the "voluntary" embargo on airplanes to Japan is ridiculous. America is supplying over 90 per cent of Japan's imports of scrap iron, copper, and oil.

Senator Borah on July 6 asked a pertinent question: "What is the difference between the dictators and the democracies in Europe when questions touching international affairs are considered?"

The other senators were silent after his speech was read.

W. J. VALENTINE.

FROM AN OUT-OF-TOWN FAN.

Rockford, Ill., July 25.—We hear much about the wonders of great Chicago. We also have read about how the country folks go to the city and lose their hard earned money. We hoped to believe the former, but are now convinced the management of the White Sox are out to show the public that there is much truth in the latter statement, as is evidenced by their actions in selling seats to out-of-town fans that were by far the poorest in the park for the highest price.

We realize that there was an overcapacity crowd on Sunday, but, if they wish to continue having out-of-town customers, they had better discontinue their practice of overcharging on special occasions. CLIFF LUNDSTROM.

OUR DELETERIOUS INFLUENCE.

Evanston, Ill., July 24.—As evidence of the widespread influence of your phony spelling let me cite the following episode:

The other night I attended a meeting of some ten men, all neighbors, all fathers, all heads of families. The boys of seven of the ten fathers, ranging from 9 to 13 years of age were all pupils in the Evanston schools and at present were away at summer camp. Here was my greeting:

"Hello, there! Did you get a letter from your boy yet? How did you like the spelling?"

I had, indeed, received a letter from the boy. And the spelling was commendable but only because I had, during the previous winter, spent time and money on extra tutoring for my youngster in that very subject at the time I discovered his predilection for TRIBUNE spelling.

What a sorry commentary! Seven fathers being forced to a realization that fundamentals in the matter of conveying ideas from one individual to another were being neglected, while our teachers fight their way out of a fog wherein psychologic approach, social adaptation, and the suppression of egocentric impulses form the beginning and end of the educators' world.

EVAN S. TONIAN.

IN NEED OF SLEEP.

Chicago, July 26.—Is it true that one who is annoyed by a neighbor's loud radio must get up a signed petition and present it to the police station to get a warant? Is there no other redress? Can some one inform me just how to start this petition? I am in need of sleep. When I go to bed around 10 p. m. children's noise and radios are at their height. 5 A. M. RISER.

A THOUGHT ON GARBAGE.

Chicago, July 23.—The Chicago Association of Commerce with Oscar Mayer as its head is making a drive on its members to raise a big fund to foster Chicago the beautiful in every way.

Why not use some of this money or influence to facilitate our deplorable garbage collection and incineration problems? X. Y.

THE STATE'S GAMBLING "TAKE."

Chicago, July 25.—I have just read an article on the money received from the race tracks by the state of Illinois.

Why not make the state also a partner with the bookies and thereby collect more revenue to put into the treasury box, and use that money to increase old age pensions? M. B. H.

FIND 1ST CLASS MAIL OFTEN AS FAST AS SPECIAL

Survey Compares Services to Nearby Cities.

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

Between Chicago and its smaller neighboring cities the United States postal service has just as many peculiarities as it has between Chicago and the great cities of the east, west, and south.

To insure maximum speed in transmission, the patron should exercise as much mailing intelligence in dispatching a letter fifty miles as he would in sending it 2,000. Mailing intelligence means a knowledge of train schedules and mail closing times. It means knowing the hours of the day most advantageous for mailing to given cities.

These things were shown by recent tests of the postal service to and from sixteen selected communities in Chicagoland. This new survey by THE TRIBUNE was the outgrowth of one, national in scope, which was conducted six weeks ago.

Two Types Studied.

It was concerned with two types of mail, first class regular and special delivery, because most of the communities involved are too near Chicago to receive individual air mail service.

On a business day recently regular and special delivery letters were sent to TRIBUNE correspondents in the sixteen towns and cities. The posting time was noted on a form inside each letter. The time of arrival was written on the envelope when it reached its destination.

The 3 cent letters were posted at 5 p. m., the hour when the postoffice is prepared to handle the greatest flow of mail. The special delivery letters were mailed at 10 a. m. so they might reach during the daylight hours those communities that do not have twenty-four hour special delivery service.

Correspondents Send Letters.

A few days later the correspondents mailed similar letters to Tribune Tower, following the same routine with the exception of the posting times. To broaden the tests, the correspondents were permitted to mail at all hours of the day and night.

The regular mail posted in Chicago at 5 p. m. all was delivered in the sixteen communities during the following forenoon. The best time was scored by the letter to South Bend, Ind. Its elapsed time was 13 hours 30 minutes. Michigan City's was next, in 14 hours 45 minutes. The record of the outbound regular mail:

To	Mailed.	Post-marked	Deliv-ered.	Elapsed time.
Dixon	5:00p	6:30p	8:20a	16h 20m
Rockford	5:00p	6:30p	7:00a	15h
Ottawa	5:00p	6:30p	8:00a	16h
Peoria	5:00p	6:30p	7:30a	15h 30m
Freeport	5:00p	7:00p	8:00a	16h
Moline	5:00p	7:00p	7:30a	15h 30m
Davenport	5:00p	6:00p	7:15a	15h 15m
Kankakee	5:00p	6:30p	7:10a	15h 10m
Bloomington	5:00p	7:00p	10:30a	18h 30m
Decatur	5:00p	7:00p	10:00a	18h

Springfield	5:00p	7:00p	8:30a	16h 30m
Danville	5:00p	6:30p	7:50a	15h 50m
Michigan City	5:00p	7:00p	7:45a	14h 45m
South Bend	5:00p	6:30p	6:30a	13h 30m
Indianapolis	5:00p	6:30p	7:00a	15h

[Abbreviations: a—a. m.; p—p. m.; h—hours; m—minutes.]

Michigan City and South Bend, Ind., are on central daylight time, and all the other cities are on central standard time, which is one hour behind Chicago time. In computing the elapsed time, therefore, one hour was added to the time of outgoing mail to cities having central standard time and one hour was deducted from the time of mail incoming from those cities.

The second phase of the tests showed that mail service from the sixteen towns to Chicago is as fast as that from this city to them. The record:

From.	Mailed.	Post marked.	Deliv-ered.	Elapsed time.
Dixon	3:45p	5:00p	8:30a	15h 45m
Rockford	3:30p	5:00p	8:30a	16h

[Abbreviations: a—a. m.; p—p. m.; h—hours; m—minutes.]

The special delivery tests showed up well in most instances, reflecting substantial savings in time over regular mail. There were major breakdowns, however, in three instances.

The letter to Peoria, mailed here at 10 a. m. and postmarked at noon was in the Peoria postoffice at 6:30 p. m. of the same day, but was not delivered until 6:30 a. m., twelve hours later. The South Bend letter, posted at the same time, was in the postoffice there at 6 p. m., but was not delivered until 6:30 a. m. The Indianapolis postoffice received its letter at 5 p. m., but waited until 7 a. m.—fourteen hours later—before delivering it.

Despite Chicago's twenty-four hour special delivery service, some strange things befell specials mailed to Tribune tower from Dixon, Rockford, and Moline. The Dixon letter, mailed at 3:45 p. m. and postmarked at 5 p. m., reached the central postoffice here at 10:30 p. m. The backstamp showed that 8½ hours elapsed before it was sent to the old postoffice annex, where specials are recorded, then delivered.

Travels a Mystery.

The Rockford special was mailed at 6:30 p. m., reaching the old postoffice here at 8 a. m., with the central postoffice stamp missing—and its travels a mystery. The Moline letter, mailed at 9:40 a. m., finally got to the central postoffice at 11:30 p. m., but didn't reach the old postoffice until 7 a. m.

The fastest times scored were by those from Freeport, 6 hours 36 minutes; South Bend, 6 hours 44 minutes, and Ottawa, 7 hours 30 minutes. The records:

From	Mailed.	Post-marked.	Deliv-ered.	Elapsed time.

Indianapolis.	9:00a	12:30p	8:45p	10h 45m

The out of town mailer thus may be reasonably sure that his special will be delivered promptly in Chicago. Chicago mailers, however, should bear in mind that letters reaching most small towns at night will not be delivered until the following day, when the special service is resumed. Because of this limited service, regular mail often is as fast and 10 cents cheaper than special delivery mail to smaller cities and towns.

[The concluding article of this series will embody a summation of the findings in both the national and the Chicagoland surveys.]

SOCIAL SECURITY PAMPHLET SINGS M'NUTT PRAISES

Document Financed Out of Pay Roll Taxes.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 27.—A twenty page pamphlet devoted to Paul V. McNutt of Indiana, a presidential candidate, published by the information service of the Indiana social security board's unemployment compensation division, appeared here today. The pamphlet praised McNutt's record, his recent appointment as administrator of the new Federal Security administration, and pointed to 1941 in a graph portraying McNutt's career.

The government pays for all administration costs of social security, which include printing costs, out of pay roll taxes levied for old age benefits. In the last fiscal year the federal government turned back to Indiana $1,795,351 for social security administration costs. "That sum represents 8 per cent of the federal pay roll taxes levied in Indiana.

Graph Traces Career.

These steps are: 1925, dean Indiana university law school; 1928, national commander American Legion; 1933, governor state of Indiana; 1937, high commissioner Philippines; 1939, administrator Federal Security administration.

Signed by Jackson.

The editorial, signed by Clarence A. Jackson, secretary of the Indiana board and director of the unemployment division, congratulates the "millions of Americans who will be benefited by his appointment as head of the newly established federal security agency." It was recently reported that Jackson will come to Washington to assist McNutt.

Praise is given McNutt in the editorial for efficiency, leadership, administrative ability, integrity, etc. The editorial ends with the words: "Indiana is proud of McNutt's record. Now the nation is to be the recipient of his public service."

"I know nothing about it," McNutt said when asked for comment today. The pamphlet was issued without his permission, he said.

PEACE PARLEYS OPEN IN ARMOUR LABOR DISPUTE

John L. Connor, a conciliator from the department of labor, arrived in Chicago yesterday and started a series of conferences with the object of settling disputes between Armour & Co. and the Packinghouse Workers Organizing committee [C. I. O.]. The union has threatened widespread strikes unless the company agrees to negotiate a contract on a national scale.

Connor talked during the day with Van A. Bittner and Don Harris, union leaders, and Ald. Paul Douglas, who has guided the city council's peace-making attempts. Connor said he would continue his meetings with the union today and would then seek to meet Armour officials.

The company has taken the position that it is dealing with the union in individual plants and that it will not start parleys looking toward a national contract until the status of the dispute has been passed on by the national labor relations board.

AMERICA SIGNALS MARS AND HEARS CATLIKE NOISES

Radio Dash Sent to Planet 36 Million Miles Off.

New York, July 27 [Special].—The American Museum of Natural History set out on its first inter-planetary adventure tonight in an effort to communicate with Mars by radio. The occasion was the close approach of Mars.

The museum's Martian expedition was headed by Dr. Clyde Fisher, curator of the Hayden planetarium. Headquarters were established at the Baldwin, N. Y., plant of Press Wireless, Inc., which is operated by radio station WOR.

Hear Many Strange Sounds.

Forty radio engineers and scientists listened for signals that might possibly come from Mars. They listened tensely to short wave receivers tuned in to frequencies ranging from 16 to 300 megacycles. Many strange sounds came to their ears, leading some to believe that Mars might be populated largely by cats. Others, more skeptical, ascribed the sounds to terrestrial atmospherics.

At 11.22 p. m. a signal threw into operation a high-frequency radio transmitter, operating on 20,000,000 cycles with a power of 20,000 watts. A long dash was aimed at Mars, a tiny dot in the heavens a mere 36,000,000 miles away. To make matters more difficult the planet at that time was hidden by thick, dark clouds.

Wait 6½ Minutes.

"If that signal should break through the ionized layer and if it should hit Mars squarely, it should be reflected directly back at the earth by the mineral substance of Mars," said Hans Christian Adamson, chairman of the museum's committee on public press information. "The round-trip of the signal should take about 6½ minutes."

The forty short wave receivers tuned in once again and the radio engineers listened. Again some of them insisted they heard something. But the skeptics said the same sounds could be heard several minutes before the expected time.

Spies a "Snowstorm."

BLOEMFONTEIN, South Africa, July 27 (AP).—What appeared to be snows piled over millions of square miles in Mars' northern hemisphere before they melted in two days, were reported tonight by an American astronomer as the planet came nearest the earth since 1924.

HORNER ARRIVES IN HIGHLAND PARK SUMMER RETREAT

Drives to Lake Estate After Plane Trip.

Gov. Horner, tired but apparently in good spirits, completed a swift trip from Springfield to a lakeside residence in Highland Park yesterday afternoon and settled down for a long rest.

The governor boarded a plane of the Chicago and Southern Airlines in Springfield at 2:09 p. m. An hour and ten minutes later the big ship landed at the Curtiss-Reynolds airport in Glenview. There he entered an automobile and was taken to his summer retreat.

Pleasant Trip, Says Governor.

"It was a pleasant trip," he told interviewers before he entered the house, which was rented from Attorney Samuel Holmes. "I feel pretty well, but I have worked hard considering 600 bills passed by the general assembly. I need a rest and I think I can get it here."

The governor expressed pleasure at being able to remain in Illinois and "close to the cool lake." He plans to return to the executive mansion about Oct. 1, and will handle only emergency matters in the meantime.

Poses Three Times for Pictures.

He posed three times during the day for photographers—at the Springfield airport, at Curtiss-Reynolds airport, and at the Holmes residence. At each place he joked with the camera men.

Gov. Horner, who suffered a heart attack last fall and has never fully recovered, was accompanied on the plane trip by his physician, Dr. Nathan Rosen; a nurse, Miss Anne Lou Boozer, and John T. Casey, his personal secretary.

The governor walked with a cane and was assisted by Casey to and from the automobile.

INVENTOR'S WIFE FILES A REPLY TO HIS DIVORCE SUIT

Mrs. Marie Kawczynski Kleinschmidt, attractive young second wife of Edward E. Kleinschmidt, wealthy inventor, yesterday replied to his suit for divorce with a cross bill for separate maintenance.

Mrs. Kleinschmidt, 29 years old, appeared in the Lake county Circuit court at Waukegan soon after her attorney, Armin G. Kusswurm, filed the bill. A week ago Kleinschmidt, 62, sued for divorce, accusing his bride of cruel, inhuman, and abusive treatment.

The day before there had been an uproar in his luxurious home at 2620 Deere Park drive north, Highland Park. At Kleinschmidt's orders, five huge vans moved all of the furnishings out of the $200,000 house. Mrs. Kleinschmidt protested loudly, called her attorney and the chief of police, and then drank a bottle of bleaching fluid.

GOLF TOURNEY TO HELP HENRY RAISE ALIMONY

Next Monday the friends of Henry Mack will stage a golf tournament at a north side country club, his attorney, George Crane, told Judge John P. McGoorty yesterday. Mack, who is secretary treasurer of the Bartenders' union, needs $350.

This is the unpaid balance due his wife, Lillian, 25 years old, of 2141 Gunderson avenue, Berwyn, under a $550 divorce settlement. Mrs. Mack wants her husband held in contempt unless he pays the sum before the decree is signed. Mack has been paying $10 a week.

Mrs. Mack maintains she needs the money because of a lung ailment. Attorney Crane said this wasn't Mack's fault. As an actress, he said, Mrs. Mack recently caught cold in a draft on a loop stage. In her act, Crane said, she clung to a curtain which was swiftly raised and lowered.

Goes to Court

Clifton Long, 4, in court as mother sought to collect money for his support.

Although he works only a few blocks away, Harold Long never gives his son, Clifton, 4 years old, a greeting or a chin chuck when they pass on the street, his ex-wife, Mrs. Esther Long Gallagher said yesterday in the Superior court. In addition, said Mrs. Gallagher, Long owes $330 for support of the boy. Judge John P. McGoorty ordered Long to show cause why he should not be held in contempt of court. Mrs. Gallagher lives at 2816 Madison street.

HEARING CLEARS PRISON GUARD IN CONVICT'S DEATH

Chester, Ill., July 27. (AP)—A murder charge filed against Albert G. Bruns, southern Illinois penitentiary guard, in the death of a former inmate was dismissed late today after a preliminary hearing.

Coroner Lester C. Walker, who with Sherif Robert T. Blair signed the complaint that resulted in issuance of the murder warant last night, said: "As far as I know now no further action will be taken."

Walker added he had not received a report of an autopsy performed on the exhumed body of the inmate, Stephen Jaroszewicz, 57 years old, who died at the prison last Sept. 29.

FIND DEFENDANT IN ASSAULT CASE ALREADY IN JAIL

PoliceChief,AlsoAccused, Freed on Bail.

On Tuesday evening James Reposh, the one man police department of the tiny town of Forest View, and James Carroll disappeared after they had been involved in a fight in Carroll's saloon in Forest View. They vanished after the issuance of warants charging each with assault and battery.

Map shows location of Forest View.

Long past midnight and all day Wednesday deputy sherifs and county highway policemen searched for the two. Yesterday the hunt officially was at an end. Reposh, it was learned, had sauntered into the Willow Springs county highway station late Wednesday and had posted a $1,000 bond pending his trial next Wednesday.

Discovered in County Jail.

Carroll was discovered in the county jail. He was put there Wednesday night for failing to turn over $2,615 he allegedly collected while a part time salesman for the Columbia Fuel company, 4940 Bloomingdale avenue.

The warants against both men were issued by Justice of the Peace Henry Pendl of Willow Springs after Bernard Brooks, 5433 South 73d avenue, Summit, told the following story:

Brooks, an engineer, had called Tuesday on Carroll to sell him a covering for his bar. He bought several drinks for Carroll and Chief Reposh. Then they induced him to gamble for additional drinks on a bowling machine device.

Beaten, Engineer Charges.

When Carroll suggested playing for money, Brooks declined and went next door to buy some ice cream. Reposh and Carroll followed. Sensing trouble, Brooks took refuge in a washroom. He picked up a crowbar to defend himself but put it down when Carroll assured him they meant no harm.

As he did so, Brooks charged, he was set upon by Reposh. Both men then beat him and tore his shirt, he said. He was taken to the Forest View police station and locked up for an hour. He also charged that $54 was missing from his shirt.

When he surrendered to Deputy Sherif Joe La Grasse, Reposh denied beating Brooks. He said Brooks and an unidentified man were fighting and that he merely had arrested Brooks when the latter insisted on prolonging the fracas.

Carroll had nothing to say. He must either pay up the $2,615 judgment or stay in jail for the next six months. It's not even certain that he'll appear for trial next Wednesday unless Justice Pendl asks for his temporary release.

JURORS CHOSEN IN WATERMELON SLAYING TRIAL

Selection of a jury was completed yesterday before Judge John Sbarbaro of the Criminal court for the trial of Athon Papas, fruit stand watchman, for the murder of Miss Muriel Ruth Campbell. Miss Campbell, 22 years old, was shot May 30 by Papas following an argument over a broken watermelon.

Mrs. Helen Papas, wife of the defendant, and their eight children were seated in the courtroom almost directly behind the parents of the dead girl, Mr. and Mrs. William Campbell and their son, Robert, 17. The Campbells live at 1228 Maple avenue, Berwyn.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell agreed with the state in the demand for the death penalty.

"We think that only by that can justice be done," they said.

Miss Georgia Papas, 24, daughter of the defendant, said for the family:

"We are all standing by to help father as much as we can in these tragic circumstances."

GUNMEN MENACE OFFICE FORCE, GET $4,500 LOOT

Five armed gunmen obtained $1,500 cash and $3,000 in checks yesterday in a noon raid on the general offices of Horder's, Inc., office supply company at 231 South Jefferson street. Four of the bandits, all of whom were masked, rode up to the seventh floor offices in an elevator and forced 200 employés to remain at their desks. One of the gang entered the cashier's cage and seized a money sack containing the cash and checks.

Miss B. Estelle Parks, 7059 Yale avenue, the cashier, said the sack had been made ready for an express company messenger due to arrive shortly after 1 o'clock. The gunmen forced the elevator operator from his car and attempted to operate it themselves on the descent. It jammed at the fifth floor. They fled down a fire escape.

As they were descending, Le Roy Martin, 2215 Wellington avenue, an employé, leaned from a window and hurled a milk bottle at the robber carrying the money sack. It shattered on a railing beside the bandit's head. The four fled in an automobile driven by the fifth man.

PEACH ICE CREAM IS AN INEXPENSIVE DESSERT LUXURY

When peaches and cream get together in the refrigerator to make peach ice cream, you have something. This is as inexpensive an ice cream as you'll find anywhere. If you prefer a richer cream, substitute evaporated milk for half the water in this recipe, or use fresh milk in place of the water.

BUDGET PEACH ICE CREAM

[Serves eight]

3½ cups water
1 package vanilla ice cream powder
½ cup sweetened condensed milk
Few drops almond extract
2 cups sweetened mashed peaches

Add water gradually to ice cream powder, stirring until dissolved. Then add condensed milk and almond extract. Freeze in tray of automatic refrigerator until thick, but not hard. Beat with rotary beater until smooth. Fold in peach pulp and continue freezing, stirring frequently.

Slice potatoes thinly and cook in boiling salted water for a few minutes, but not until tender. Arrange in alternate layers with sliced egg, in buttered baking dish. Pour over the mixture the white sauce, to which cheese has been added. Top with fine buttered crumbs and bake in a 375-400 degree oven for half an hour.

SAVORY EGGS.

[Serves four.]

2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons finely chopped green pepper
1 small onion, minced
1 tablespoon tomato catsup
6 eggs
¼ cup milk or cream
Salt, pepper

Melt butter and add green pepper and onion. Cook for two minutes. Add catsup and beaten eggs mixed with milk or cream. Stir and cook until thickened, over low heat, adding salt and pepper to taste. Serve on toast points.

Chopped chives may be used instead of the onion, in which case use 1 tablespoonful and add as the eggs finish cooking. Two tablespoons of grated cheese may be added to the recipe, too, if desired.

If you want these eggs very creamy, put the mixture in the top of the double boiler to cook, after onion and green pepper have been browned in a skillet.

THIS SALAD DRESSING FOR ONE MEAL ONLY (NONE WILL BE LEFT)

No doubt about it—this salad dressing is a smoothie. Both texture and taste are pretty slick. But don't try to keep it around for more than one meal. Even if there were any left the dressing wouldn't keep well.

BANANA CREAM DRESSING

[About one cup]

½ ripe banana, mashed
½ cup whipping cream, whipped
½ cup mayonnaise
½ teaspoon salt

Fold mashed banana into mayonnaise and whipping cream which have been blended. Add salt. Serve immediately. A little lemon juice sprinkled over banana before mashing will help prevent discoloration.

FROSTED FUDGE DROPS ARE SURE TO BE PICKED UP

Fudge drops are cookies easy to mix and bake, and, as one might guess, popular with every member of the family. They may be left plain, or they may be frosted with any simple icing. For special occasions, perhaps at tea, serve them frosted with chocolate orange frosting.

FUDGE DROPS.

1½ cups sifted cake flour
½ teaspoon soda
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup butter or margarine
¾ cup brown sugar, packed firmly
1 unbeaten egg
2 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
½ cup sour milk or buttermilk
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup broken walnuts or pecans

Sift flour, measure, add soda and salt, and resift three times. Cream shortening, add sugar, and cream together thoroughly. Add egg and beat well. Add chocolate and blend. Alternately add flour and milk in small amounts, beating until smooth after each addition. Add vanilla and nuts. Drop from a teaspoon onto an ungreased baking sheet and bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, for fifteen minutes.

CHOCOLATE ORANGE FROSTING.

¼ cup butter
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
3 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
3 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
¼ cup [about] orange juice

Cream butter thoroughly with orange rind, and add part of the sugar gradually, blending after each addition. Add salt and chocolate and mix well. Add remaining sugar alternately with orange juice, until a spreading consistency is reached. Beat frosting until smooth.

This frosting is sufficient for a two layer cake, and more than sufficient for the fudge drops. Half the recipe may be used for the cookies. When used as frosting for a cake, choose an orange cake, fudge cake, or plain white layer cake.

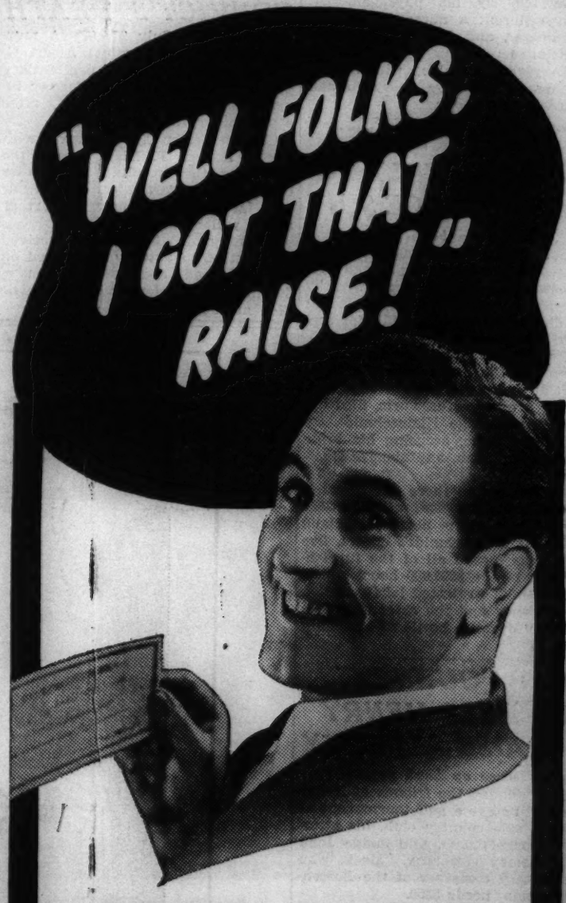
Lipton's Tea "REFRESHES"

APPROVED BY GOOD HOUSEKEEPING BUREAU

"WELL FOLKS, I GOT THAT RAISE!"



It's wise to start the day with Balanced Nourishment*

It's that clean, cooling flavor—the rich inner flavor of pure whole wheat. We bring out that deep down taste delight when we burst open the innermost wheat cells in billows of steam. Then quickly we bake the fragrant biscuits, crisp, tender and russet.

But that refreshing taste isn't all you get. There's substantial balanced nourishment in this breakfast. Two biscuits plus a cupful of milk with your favorite fruit give you seven vital food essentials for muscles, nerves, blood, teeth and bones.

At your food store, say National Biscuit Shredded Wheat. It's the wholesome balanced nourishment you'll feel far better about.

*Two National Biscuit Shredded Wheat plus a cupful of milk with fruit give you Vitamin A, Vitamin B1, Iron, Calcium, Phosphorus, Carbohydrates and Protein.

BALANCING FOOD BUDGET IS CINCH THIS WEEK-END

Vegetables, Fruit, Meat All Priced Low.

BY MARY MEADE.

It's hard to pick the food bargains—not because there are so few, but because there are so many.

With all the big and little gardens in the country working overtime to give you loads of vegetables, with early summer fruits coming from everywhere and with meat prices temptingly low—buying on a budget is a cinch.

There are few ups and downs among the vegetables. Vegetables came down at the beginning of the home-grown season, and they are staying down with few exceptions. Cucumbers, corn and lettuce are chief items of vegetable news. Lettuce and corn are important because they are both extremely low priced. The cucumber is news because it is one of the few vegetables that is still getting cheaper. Most of the sweet potatoes you'll see this week-end will be from the new crop and will probably be slightly higher.

Lots of Fruit Available.

Fragrant cantaloupe, full-flavored peaches, apricots and plums, and jade-green seedless grapes will prevent your mourning over the passing of the berry season. Even though berries, with the exception of blackberries and blueberries, are getting hard to find and are not of very good quality, there are plenty of other fruits available at reasonable prices.

Bartlett pears, nectarines, rhubarb, cooking apples, all kinds of melons, a few pie cherries and currants are also to be found. Watermelons and honeydews are a little higher this week, but in general prices run from moderate to low.

Outstanding fruit buys center around seedless grapes, cantaloupes, peaches and cooking apples. Here are two very special fruit desserts that will make use of the apple and peach bargains you carry home.

Chocolate-Peach Upside Down Cake.

1 cup sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
⅔ cup sugar
¼ cup butter or other shortening, melted
1 egg, well beaten
3 tablespoons milk
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 square unsweetened chocolate, melted
Topping:
3 tablespoons butter
¼ cup sugar
3 cups sliced fresh peaches [4 or 5 peaches].

Sift flour with baking powder, salt and sugar three times. Add melted butter, beaten egg and vanilla to milk. Stir into flour mixture, stirring until well blended. Add melted chocolate; then stir vigorously for 1 minute. Make topping by melting butter in an eight inch square pan over a very low heat; add sugar and cook and stir until thoroughly mixed. Arrange slices of peaches in this sirup in even rows. Turn batter over contents of pan. Bake in a moderate [350 degrees] oven until done, about 50 minutes. Loosen cake from sides of pan and turn upside down with peaches on top. Serve while still warm, with whipped cream, if desired.

If the apples are very tart, it may be necessary to add more sugar to the following recipe:

Peanut Butter Apple Crisp.

6 cooking apples, peeled
¾ cup sugar
½ cup flour
¼ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons peanut butter
3 tablespoons butter

Slice apples into shallow, buttered baking dish. Mix sugar, flour and salt. Cut in peanut butter and butter as for pastry and spread evenly over top of apples. Bake in a moderate [350 degrees] oven until apples are tender.

You can buy almost anything in the line of meat and still call it a bargain. Smoked meats of all varieties and sizes seem to be a good bet in any store. Sirloin and club steaks are also featured. If it's a roast you want, it may be pork, lamb or beef, depending on where you do your marketing. Lamb chops should be a very good buy, since this cut is unusually reasonable on the wholesale market. Cold cuts and poultry also are being featured.

Fresh Peach Fruit Whip Makes a Tasty Dessert

A fruit whip is one of the best desserts going—and if the fruit is fresh peaches the dessert won't be just going—it'll be gone! Here's how it's done:

FRESH PEACH WHIP.
[Serves 4.]

1 cup fresh peach pulp
2 egg whites
4 tablespoons sugar

Mash fresh peaches to a pulp or put stewed peaches through a sieve. Beat egg whites until stiff. Beat in sugar gradually. Pile into sherbet glasses. Chill and serve.

BEET PICKLES CANNED AT HOME PUT FLAVOR ACCENT INTO A MENU

It's nice to have a few jars of home canned beet pickles on the supply shelf ready for any occasion that calls for a sharp flavor accent in the menu. Beets are easily pickled. Here's one of the simplest methods:

PICKLED BEETS.

2 cups cider vinegar
2 cups water
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups sugar
1 tablespoon white mustard seed
1 teaspoon allspice
1 tablespoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon cloves
Small, whole cooked beets

Make a sirup by combining vinegar, water, salt, sugar, and spices, tied in a muslin bag. Boil for 5 minutes. Add small beets which have been cooked and skinned. Simmer for 15 minutes. Fill clean jars and seal. The beets may be placed in the jars without further cooking in pickle sirup if desired. Then the boiling sirup is poured over them and they are sealed as usual. Spice bag is removed before beets are canned, of course.

COOKING BEETS IN ACID WATER RETAINS COLOR

Here's a new way to cook beets without having them bleed to death in the process and without cooking them in their jackets. By cooking in a small amount of acidulated water, the beets retain their healthy deep red color even though they are shredded. You'll like the horseradish flavor accent, too.

BEETS IN HORSERADISH SAUCE.
[Serves six]

1 bunch beets [4 or 5]
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 cup water
¼ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon butter, melted
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup water
1 cup evaporated milk
2 tablespoons horseradish

Pare beets thinly. Shred coarsely. There should be two cups. Boil beets in vinegar, water, and salt until tender, and liquid has been absorbed, about twenty minutes. Make a sauce by blending melted butter and flour and cooking with water and milk until thickened, stirring constantly. Blend horseradish with cooked sauce and add to hot beets. Serve immediately.

TURNOVERS MAKE THAT LEFT-OVER CHICKEN A TREAT

The wise cook won't be bothered with left-over chicken problems if she tempts the family with these delicious chicken turnovers. They can be made even more tempting if served with chicken gravy or mushroom sauce and dressed up with a garnish of parsley or watercress.

CHICKEN TURNOVERS.
[Eight Servings.]

2 cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons shortening
⅔ to ¾ cup milk
1 tablespoon melted butter
Chicken mixture [see below]

Sift flour, baking powder, and salt together. Cut or rub shortening into flour mixture to consistency of coarse meal. Add milk to form a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead gently about a half minute. Roll out into rectangular sheet ¼ inch long. Cut into strips 3 inches wide and 6 inches long. Brush with melted butter. Place generous spoonful of chicken mixture on one-half of each strip. Fold other end over chicken. Press edges together with tines of fork. Bake in hot oven [450 degrees] for 20 minutes. Serve hot.

CHICKEN MIXTURE.

2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons butter
¾ cup milk
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon white pepper
1 cup diced cooked chicken
1 cup cooked diced celery

Make white sauce of flour, butter, and milk. Season with salt and pepper. Add chicken and celery. Cover and let stand in top of double boiler over hot water until ready to use.

When next you serve sliced fresh pears for breakfast, try sprinkling them with a little powdered ginger. Grated nutmeg adds zip to the breakfast berries.

● Bring out the cool cream or milk from the refrigerator and pour it over a big bowl of crisp, tender, golden Kellogg's Corn Flakes. Top, if you like, with dewy-cold juicy berries. M-m-m! There's nothing like it.

Girl Reflects Boredom When Life Is Dull

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Boredom and discontent may make a girl want to get married, but they don't help her get a husband. She must make her life so rich and amusing that some man will wish to share it.

Gertrude A. writes:

"I'm 28 and have been working for the past ten years. My job is fairly good as stenographic jobs go, but I am bored to death with it—in fact, I am dead tired of the kind of life I lead.

"It isn't that I haven't dates. I dress smartly and keep myself well groomed. Several men invite me out quite often, but it never leads anywhere. If one man fades out, it isn't long before another crops up to take his place.

"But it is the same old thing. Dinners, dancing, flirting over and over again. They never ask me to marry them. It has reached the stage where I feel like turning down invitations.

"I live in a girl's club, so even when I haven't dates, I don't get lonely, but the same casual dates, the same gossip, the same job going on forever are more than I can bear. What can I do to break my jinx and get married?"

Smart and well groomed as she is, Gertrude's boredom is probably contagious. As long as she finds life dull, no man will ever find her very exciting. He is likely to think that a discontented girl will make a discontented wife.

It is up to Gertrude to find some way of making her job and her evenings more exciting. If she put a lot into her job, she might get a better one—and she would certainly make herself a more interesting person. If she packed her evenings with enthusiasm, some man would be eager to share them with her.

Indispensable Jacket Outfit

MISS' JACKET ENSEMBLE.

This pattern fits into the summer picture and also looks ahead to autumn. Jacket outfits are almost indispensable in the well stocked wardrobe, and we think this model is particularly effective.

The illustration suggests three ways to use the pattern, and all of them are attractive designs. The one piece frock at the upper left has a bow tucked under the chinline. It has a typical shirtwaist bodice and flared skirt.

The larger sketch shows how the jacket may be further utilized in a way particularly smart for autumn. The jacket is used over the one piece dress and has buttons and buttonholes. Banding the sleeves is white or another light color to match the contrasting collar.

Want a new hat? Use pattern No. 3165, available in one headsize only, and for 10 cents extra.

Style No. 2516 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20. Size 16 requires 4½ yards of 39 inch material for the dress and jacket, with ¼ yard of contrasting for the collar.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central station, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

The colorful summer edition of the Chicago Tribune Book of Clotilde Fashions is on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower for 15 cents the copy, 10 cents if ordered with a pattern. Address mail orders to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central station, NEW YORK CITY.

Be More Vain! Back Hairline Requires Care

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Most women aren't vain enough, at least when it comes to the back of their heads. As we look at wispy ends and shaggy hairlines and knots pinned up any old way, we sometimes wonder what has become of the hand mirrors.

As a final triumphant gesture, the beauty operator takes a hand mirror and shows his customer the perfect swirl or curl or cut he has achieved on the back of her head. But we doubt if, between visits to the hairdressers, she ever looks at it again. Well, how often do you?

It would be all right if you could back away from all your friends and family as if they were royalty. But custom isn't so kind to the back of our heads. It will pay you to take a rear view frequently.

As his scissors flash, the operator may murmur compliments about your lovely, natural hairline. As you step out of the shop, it undoubtedly is lovely. But don't expect it to look as neat and graceful and attractive two or three weeks from now. By that time it will be shaggy and uneven and anything but appealing to your rear audience. If you have a nice hairline, preserve it by frequent trips to the barber.

Since a certain well known glamor girl is doing her hair up, many of the girls will copy her and pile their own locks high. But we hope that doesn't mean straying ends and wispy hairfalls escaping down the back of many necks. There are little combs and nets and hair varnishes to keep these ends in place. In fact, plain soap or old fashioned mustache wax will keep them under control.

Your morning mirror will check up on the front view, but hunt up that hand mirror and take a look at the back.

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Tribune Charities, Inc.]

A large assortment of grins greeted me at the entrance to the circus yesterday afternoon. It was party day and 100 children who had been selected as my guests at the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus were hopping up and down with excitement and smiling all over their faces.

Of course, we had to have peanuts. Music was heard and the colorful parade filed past us. Prancing horses, plodding elephants, colorful costumes, and clowns galore kept my guests entranced.

It was a big afternoon. Many of my guests were seeing a circus for the first time and they assured me it was a day they'll never forget!

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1939: By Ely Culbertson.]

Many of the "end plays" in which a defender may find himself are caused by lack of foresight on the part of his own partner.

Today's hand is taken from a recent duplicate game. In comparing the defense of two East players, we will discover why it is that certain players come out with "top scores" and others with average or less.

East, dealer.

Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 heart	2 clubs	Pass	2 diamonds
Double	2 spades	Double	3 clubs
Double	Pass	Pass	Pass

Obviously, the North-South bidding was over-vigorous.

East's double of two diamonds was not a penalty double; West had not yet been heard from and, despite the fact that both North and South were bidding, East's double was of the take-out variety. When the opponents kept on going, West's double of spades and East's of clubs were, of course, for penalties.

At two tables, the bidding, the opening lead, the final contract, and the play up to the seventh trick were identical. West opened the heart eight, East put up the king, and promptly laid down the ace and nine of clubs. Declarer finessed on the second round, winning with the ten, then drew East's club queen. The heart queen was then played out, and East won. At both tables, East now laid down the spade king and, curiously enough, both declarers permitted this to hold. But now, at the seventh trick, the defense at the two tables diverged sharply At one table, East, after holding the spade king, promptly laid down the spade queen. Declarer won and led his singleton diamond, and poor West was "hooked." He could not afford to pass the trick, hence had to win with the ace, but now the best he could do was lay down the spade jack, after which he had to concede the spade ten to declarer.

At the other table East, at the seventh trick, clearly foresaw the possibility that his own partner might be put into an "end-play." Hence, after holding the spade king, he carefully shifted to a diamond! He realized that, on the bidding, South had no more than one diamond. If that card were removed so that South could not use it as an exit, West, on winning with the diamond ace, would have a safe return, a low spade to East's marked queen. That is the way it turned out. West won with the diamond ace and returned a low spade, East putting up the queen. Now declarer was helpless. He won and eventually had to concede two spade tricks to West's J-9. It would have done him no good to hold up on West's play of the queen, since West would merely lead another spade.

At Table Number 1, where the three club contract had been defeated only 500 points, East-West did not get a good match-point score, inasmuch as they could have bid and made a vulnerable three no trump contract. At Table Number 2, by defeating the three club contract 800 points, East-West came out with top score.

Mother Declares She Will Block Marriage of Eleanor De Forest

Los Angeles, Cal., July 27 (AP).—Parental objection arose today to the intended marriage of Eleanor De Forest, daughter of the radio pioneer, and Hugh C. Bream, Azusa, Cal., technician.

Mrs. Lee De Forest, the girl's mother, learning the couple had filed notice of intention to wed in San Bernardino yesterday exclaimed:

"There will be no marriage. My daughter is under age and I won't give my consent. Why, it's ridiculous. They have known each other only six months and a wedding is out of the question."

Miss De Forest gave her age as 19, Bream as 22. Under California law, a girl can marry when she is 18 without parental consent.

Mrs. De Forest, divorced from the girl's father 10 years ago, added:

"I'm going to take her back to New York immediately, so she can forget this nonsense. We came out here three years ago intending to stay only a week, but stayed because my daughter liked it so much. But now I know we'll go back."

Crochet Doily Adopts Checks as Striking Motif

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Once tablecloths were red and white checks. Since that time the checks have graduated to the crocheted doily class and are used for informal lunches and for breakfast. The colors may be white and two shades of green, or whatever shade matches the service. It is a simple matter to crochet these squares and sew them together when they are completed. In this way the doilies may be any desired size.

For the instructions in crocheting the checked luncheon doilies, No. X-307, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 320 Fifth avenue, New York City.

And two weeks later Helen wore her beautiful new ring on a smooth, white hand. Magic? No. She acted on the advice that she had heard so often—and changed from strong washday soap to pure, gentle Ivory Soap for dishwashing. THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

One of our favorite bath luxuries is a water softener perfumed with lavender. We like it for two reasons It makes the tub seem as though it were filled with scented rain water And we really believe it does something nice for the skin.

This is a meal, compounded of lavender blossoms, cereals and some magic softening ingredients. Maybe it's the knowledge that it contains cereals that gives us the notion that it does such a good soothing job. We can remember when the skin-softening virtues of oatmeal, bran and other cereals were highly praised. And if our grandmothers' complexions were any criterion the cereals had plenty in their favor.

It is a bath glorifier that can be used all during the winter to prevent and soothe chapping. In the hand it looks like snow crystals but it dissolves completely in the water and leaves no trace of sediment. The lavender scent is restful and zestful at the same time—as you know if you're one of the army of lavender users.

The preparation has been on the market rather a long time. We remind you about it today because it's now out in an in-between size, neither too large nor too small. It comes in a fat round wooden drum that's extremely attractive and thoroughly practical. Sometimes paper packages used perilously close to the bathtub get wilted. This drum of thin, light wood keeps its tailored trimness until the last crystal has been used.

Men like this bath meal, incidentally. Women have told us that the men in their households, once they try it, can't keep their hands off it

Chicagoans to Attend Races at Saratoga

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE month long racing season at Arlington Park will close tomorrow afternoon, and some of Chicago's racing enthusiasts will turn their attention toward Saratoga Springs, N. Y., and the Saratoga Racing association's meeting, which opens on Monday.

Any one familiar with Arlington's Post and Paddock or Jockey clubs will feel right at home at the eastern meeting, for the clubhouse at the race course will have many of the Post and Paddock's regulars in its boxes.

Walter Schuttler already has opened his Saratoga home for the season, which will continue through Sept. 2. He owns the home which the late Joseph Leiter bought only two years before his death.

Mrs. George A. McKinlock, who has leased a cottage at Saratoga for August, has taken one of the boxes in the clubhouse. Among the Chicagoans who will be her neighbors are the Warren Wrights, the junior James Simpsons, and Mrs. John D. Hertz.

The Marshall Fields, the Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilts, John Hay Whitney, the Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitneys, Mrs. Payne Whitney, William du Pont Jr., and his sister, Mrs. Randolph P. Scott, whose horse won the English Grand National a year ago, are among the stable owners who will be racing at Saratoga this summer.

Mr. Scott, the moving picture actor, is in Chicago now, stopping at the Ambassador East hotel. He will spend this week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Crane II. at their Lake Geneva, Wis., home. Another guest of the Cranes will be Miss Eleonore Thompson, the junior John R. Thompsons' pretty daughter, who met the actor in Hollywood last winter.

Corning Parkers to See Futurity.

The Wrights are expected at Saratoga on Monday and, like Mrs. Hertz, will have a number of horses running in the Saratoga meeting. The Corning Parkers of New York, who are expected for the running of the Futurity and the Arlington Handicap tomorrow, will have a box at Sara-

Hollywood, Cal., July 27.—Hanley Stafford, the radio father of bratty "Baby Snooks," will get married to Vyola Vown. . . . She's on the Joe E. Brown show. . . . Director John Stahl, who has had more success with unhappy endings than any of the locals, has another one for the Boyer-Irene Dunne flicker. . . . It is his contention that life itself is full of unhappy endings, and that movie fans don't mind an unhappy conclusion providing it is arrived at logically. . . . There's something to that. . . . Pat Harrington, from Jack White's lunatic "Club 18," is in the Helen Hayes show. . . . He plays a wise-cracking barber selected for a blue ribbon jury. . . . Weather Man Makes It Even with Rodzinski

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Arthur Rodzinski, the lion headed, mild featured conductor of the Cleveland orchestra, is the man who was rained on almost continuously during his two weeks at Ravinia last summer.

This year he craftily took the third fortnight of the festival instead of the first. His cunning was justified last night when the opening concert of the festival's final cycle of eight fell on a calm summer evening which turned Ravinia Park into a paradise.

The evening began with the Wertheim transcription of the Bach D minor toccata and fugue. The arrangement and the performance conspired to make the most of the piece's tremendous sweep and shattering climaxes. The roof of the little pavilion all but rose an inch at the impact of the final chord.

In the Tschaikowsky fifth symphony which followed there was much to exult in and a few points to question. Typical of the first type of thing were the wonderfully melting songfulness of the second movement, the conductor's feeling for large contours, and his determination that climaxes should be built by means of dynamic gradations so finely calculated as to be almost mathematical.

There were phrases turned so eloquently that they seemed about to tear your heart out. Color effects were portentous where the music's character called for this sort of thing, sharp and clear and immensely potent where the composer carries the trying first violins high in their scale.

The matters to be questioned are the performance of the third movement, which definitly was not made of air nor light nor of any other earth free substance, and the performance of the final movement, which became so violent in places that the proceedings were carried perilously close to the line which separates music from declamation.

Following the intermission came an energetic, imaginative presentation of Stravinsky's "Petrouchka" music. The evening closed charmingly with the overture to Verdi's "Sicilian Vespers." The piece has brilliance of a sort—and the kind of meaty melody which its composer had such a genius for dispensing.

INTERESTING AUDIENCE

To the reporter whose task it was to write about last night's audience at Ravinia, Mme. Artur Rodzinski proved to be as interesting in her way as her distinguished conductor-husband in his. Tall and slim with regular features, dark eyes and honey colored hair, she was striking in a flowered chiffon dress that offset her deep tan.

"She's the great-niece of Wieniawski and I remember how hard it was to play his things when I used to fiddle," remarked Mrs. Percy B. Eckhart who, with Mr. Eckhart, had entertained for the Rodzinskis on Wednesday.

During the intermission Mme. Rodzinski dashed backstage with her hostess, Mrs. Louis Eckstein, to congratulate her husband. When she reappeared, she confessed that despite environment and heredity she is not a musician herself.

A rehearsal scheduled unexpectedly for 10 o'clock this morning kept Grete Stueckgold, Susanne Fisher, and Eyvind Laholm from the concert last night, but the executive board and directors of the festival will have an opportunity to meet as well as to hear the opera stars at the buffet supper Mrs. Eckstein is giving after tonight's gala program.

Mrs. James Otis Hinkley, who was hostess to the singers at dinner, brought Suzanne Sten, the fourth soloist at tonight's concert, with her party to Ravinia. Mrs. Hinkley's nephew, Cleaveland Putnam, and his bride, a charming brunette, in a red and white chiffon gown with a brief wrap of white ostrich plumes over her arm, were among others in the party.

Concert Makes Maria Noelte a Soprano Star

BY CECIL SMITH.

A new Chicago singer rose to stardom last night at the University of Chicago. Before an audience estimated at six thousand, gathered for the outdoor Illinois Symphony concert in Hutchinson court, Maria Noelte, coloratura soprano, sang publicly for the first time within the corporate limits of Chicago.

After each of her two appearances with Izler Solomon and the orchestra, the throng called the young auburn haired soprano back again and again, applauding with unflagging enthusiasm.

Mrs. Noelte seems destined for a brilliant future in concert and opera. Although it is sometimes difficult to assess the qualities of a voice in the open air, there is no need to tread cautiously in this case.

Mrs. Noelte produces her voice with exquisite evenness, and with no artificiality or indefiniteness of tone placement. From bottom to top it is fluent and flexible, capable of dashing off coloratura pyrotechnics with dazzling accuracy and speed. Its timbre, especially in the higher register, is silvery and gleaming.

More important still, the young singer is a sensitive and appealing artist. Constantly she employs shadings of color and texture to enhance the meaning of the musical line, or to illuminate the text. With her, standard coloratura pieces like the "Caro Nome" from "Rigoletto" and the Bell Song from "Lakme" take on a degree of musical interest that is not found in the routine performances they usually receive.

Mrs. Noelte's success takes on unusual interest. Her husband, Dr. Albert Noelte, is noted both as a composer and as head of the musical theory department at Northwestern university. Upon his urgent advice the young singer was kept out of the public eye until there could be no doubt of her thorough preparation. Thus Mrs. Noelte is one of the few singers who have taken time to mature both art and technique before venturing on a career.

Mrs. Noelte will sing in Grant park tonight.

Allow Baby to Have the Best Start in Life

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

For the August baby and his mother yesterday's article was especially written to urge her to nurse her baby, if it is a possible thing. And according to certain statistics, 90 per cent of all mothers can do so.

In many cases the doctor must advise on diet and other measures that have been proving successful. And always in difficult cases the mother must coöperate not only physically, but by her mental attitude.

By nursing your baby you are giving him a better chance to live and a better chance to grow strong. It is also true that mother's milk has in it certain substances which are protective against disease.

But there are other advantages besides the milk itself. Breast feeding does certain things for the baby that bottle nursing does not do, and these certain things are important. The act of sucking from the breast is muscular enough to send supplies of blood to the nose, throat and mouth, developing the muscles of the tongue, cheek, lips, and opening up the nasal passages, and has its effects on the bones of the jaws, the shape of the roof of the mouth, increasing the flow of saliva, etc. Bottle feeding does not do this.

Least important of all, however, but we'll list it under the advantages is the fact that breast feeding is much easier on the mother than bottle feeding with its [often] experimentation with formulas, with formula making, with the sterilizing of bottles, nipples, etc.

Now for the process of weaning, one which is fraught with anxiety for so many mothers. This perfectly normal change should not be made into an abnormal ordeal. If understood and well managed it need not be.

A number of things may contribute to this difficulty when encountered—some physical, some psychological. The physical end of it is primarily the doctor's concern, but I can offer you some proved suggestions for a workable way of engineering the change. Go about this calmly, optimistically, and intelligently and you can be practically assured of success.

The ground work for "painless" weaning is really laid in the early months of the baby's life when he is given other foods besides the breast feeding [a practice now quite general], and when he becomes accustomed to using the bottle, the spoon, or the cup.

This early preparation for weaning has another important asset. If for any reason he has to stop breast feeding suddenly, or it is necessary to wean the baby earlier than is customary, it will be much easier on both mother and child, and may keep him from losing weight because of what might otherwise be an inability to learn a new eating technique quickly.

"Care of the Baby in Summer" and "Diet Suggestions for the First Two Years" are leaflets of interest to parents and nurses. Send a large, stamped, addressed envelope for each leaflet. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, the Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN

Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

Blind Girl Wants Typewriter.

Miss W., a worker in a hospital clinic, has appealed for a typewriter for a young woman, 23, who lost her sight as the result of an accident. She is dependent upon relief, and is able to purchase only necessities. In the hope that she may some day be able to earn her living, the patient is anxious to learn typewriting, and has obtained the services of a teacher, but has no machine. Can some reader help her?

"Care of the Baby in Summer" and "Diet Suggestions for the First Two Years" are leaflets of interest to parents and nurses. Send a large, stamped, addressed envelope for each leaflet. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, the Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

Good-bye To Vienna

By Olga L. Rosmanith

(Copyright, 1939: By News Syndicate Company, Inc.)

SYNOPSIS.

An American girl and her Viennese sweetheart, Franz Gruenwald, in a café in Vienna hear a radio announcement of Hitler's entry into Austria. The girl, Marian Taylor, has been staying in Franz's home studying voice. Franz pleads for his foster father, Prof. von Speyer, author of a recent anti-Nazi book. He refuses to flee the country and leave his wife, Gisela, and son Johann, who are the image of a child. Leopoldine, a pro-Nazi woman masseuse, in love with Franz, warns him to send the American girl home. Von Plasy is taken off to jail to die from shock. In order to take Gisela's money out of the country to deliver to her friend, Herr Wiedermann, in Riga, Marian invests it in rare stamps. Herr Speyer, the stamp merchant, guesses her purpose, but is sympathetic and asks her to deliver a picture to a friend of his in Riga, a Mme. Saybuara Lonska. Franz loses his job. When Leopoldine secures one for him he accepts it for the sake of his dependents. In Riga Marian learns Herr Wiedermann is in love with Gisela and wants to arrange for her and Johann to come there. Mme. Lonska, she discovers, is a spy and that the picture from Herr Speyer was a message in code. Marian returns to Vienna. Gisela goes to Riga. She and Herr Wiedermann are married and he adopts Johann. Franz spurns Leopoldine's offer to be his mistress. Next day Franz is seized by the Gestapo. Leopoldine's brother, Karl, a Storm Trooper, intrigued by Marian's beauty, offers to help locate Franz, though she doubts his sincerity. He falls madly in love with her, though she tells him she can love no one but Franz. Marian sees Herr Speyer, who advises her to see Wilhelm Boehm, a head Nazi official, who would know Franz's whereabouts, but he turns her down.

INSTALMENT XLI.

ANSWER TO PRAYER.

Marian waked late, and Trudi's intention to light twelve candles was the first thought that entered her head. It stayed with her all that listless, aimless day in which she could neither submit to defeat, nor rally her forces. A day in which it was misery to stroll through the familiar, yet raffishly unfamiliar streets, yet a deeper misery to fret within the quiet walls of the mockingly empty apartment.

Organ music and a nostalgic breath of incense came out of open doors to meet her as she approached the small white façade of the Kapuzinerkirche. She paused and looked in at the candle-lit interior. Friday evening Benediction was in progress. She entered quietly on tiptoe and joined the kneeling throng. The Baroque church was small but lovely. A feeling of luminous peace invaded her being. While the priest lifted his hand and pronounced the benediction, she bent her head on her arms and prayed. She remained till the congregation had filtered slowly out and then followed.

A vision of the woman who had passed her as she left the Lachenberg Palace came to her when she returned to the hot sunshine of the street. A vivid face not easily forgotten but warm and human with softly shining eyes and full, generous lips. A voice spoke in her heart, soundless yet clearly heard—there is still hope, you must go to see Herr Boehm's wife.

At once her mind began to make difficulties—how will you ever get in that house again? How make an appointment with her if you call her on the telephone? How find out that right moment when her formidable husband is out of the way on one of his mysterious errands and she alone at home. This will all be arranged, instinct countered, if this is truly an answer to prayer.

A little earlier than mid-morning seemed to her a logical time to try. The hour when a busy official would be long about his business, and all but the laziest Viennense wife up and about, but not yet out on her social activities of the day. She presented herself at the Boehm residence at half past ten the following morning, relieved to find another trooper on duty at the courtyard door. She handed him a note and said with an air of authority—"Kindly take this to the gnadiges Frau Boehm. I will wait down here for an answer."

It left him with nothing to argue about as she had not asked to see anyone nor sought to gain admittance. He invited her in to sit in the cellar-cool hallway and sent a Hitler youth upstairs on the errand.

Frau Hedwig Boehm sat at her desk with Marian's note in her hand, her brow wrinkled with perplexity. Should she call her husband on the phone and ask him what it meant? Should she ignore it altogether and turn the girl away?

She read the note again.

"Dear Frau Boehm,

Please see me for five minutes. You will be interested if you love your husband.

Sincerely,

Marian Taylor."

It was a ridiculous suggestion. Her husband was too driven to give the time he wished to give to her, his wife, let alone glance at another woman.

"Did you see the young lady?" she asked the blond boy in the immaculate white shirt.

"Yes, gnadiges Frau."

"What is she like? Common—respectable?"

"She is beautiful. Enormous blue eyes. Golden hair. All in white. Very elegant. She looks like a wealthy American."

"So? Very well. Go down and bring her up to me."

Marian was ushered into the glittering rococo boudoir, calm and poised, armed with a new-found faith. Frau Boehm greeted her coldly.

"Let us get to the point at once," she said curtly. "What is it you have to tell me about my husband?"

"Nothing, gnadige Frau. I came to ask if you would be so wonderfully kind, so human as to help me to find my fiancé."

The relief was so great that Frau Boehm sank on to her chair feeling as if her legs would slide from under her. "Sit down please, Fraulein Taylor. That's better. But what do you mean by this extraordinary statement?" She tapped the note lying upon the desk before her.

"I meant that if you love your husband you would understand my suffering and be willing to help me."

Frau Boehm did love her strange, harsh, unpredictable husband. He loved her also in his savage, moody fashion. They were, in fact, indispensable to each other.

"I can't say yet whether I will be interested or not. But please tell me all about it."

Marian began again at the beginning of her now well-worn story which kept adding another phase like the house that Jack built. Her listener's kindling eyes encouraged her. They showed she had an emotional nature given to generous impulses and ready sympathy. It was only when Marian came to the last episode—that of the night before—that her listener's attitude changed. She had been leaning forward—now she straightened herself up and her body stiffened.

"I'm sorry for you, and I understand what you feel—of course. But I cannot go behind my husband's back and give you information he has refused to give you from his records."

"But gnadige Frau——"

"It is useless for us to continue. My husband's interests must come first."

A muted telephone bell rang. Frau Boehm picked up a gilded instrument from her gilt-trimmed rococo desk. "Yes, yes, Willi, it is I— no, no, I have not yet had time—no, nothing much, but there's another mail delivery at 12 o'clock——"

There was a long pause at Frau Boehm's end. Marian heard the gutteral quack-quack-quack coming from the phone as Frau Boehm listened patiently to some long instructions from her husband. Expressions of amusement, exasperation, comical despair followed each other across her eloquent face. "Willi, have mercy," she interrupted, "there are only twenty-four hours in a day."

More quack-quack-quack. "Yes I know it is good policy. But people are wearing me out and I get laryngitis in the smoky atmosphere of these legation cocktail parties."

"And I have got something more important to do this afternoon. I have not finished preparing that last report for Sayonara."

Marian's heart paused, plunged madly and then beat a tattoo on her ribs making her feel dizzy and breathless. Frau Boehm put down the telephone remarking—"it is no soft job being a Brigade-Fuehrer's wife."

"You look happy, gnadige Frau. It would be worse to lose the man you loved and never be a wife."

"Yes, yes, I know, my dear child. But you are foolish anyhow. Why don't you go back and marry a man in your own country? Now you must go. I have work to do." She rose and moved toward the door, patted Marian on the back. "I tell you what I will do. I will talk to my husband about you. He will be angry with me for seeing you, and he will probably stick to his original decision, but it is the best I can do."

Auto Leaders Will Attend Wedding Here

A large group arriving from Detroit tomorrow for the marriage of Miss Deborah Childs and Hamilton Barksdale Brown will be at the Drake hotel for the day. Among the visitors, many of them prominent in the auto industry, will be the William S. Knudsens, the Charles Erwin Wilsons, Lawrence P. Fisher, the Wilcox Adsits, the Louis E. Deans, the C. Lewis Dicksons, the Vincent Corbetts, the J. Brook Jacksons, Henry Weaver, the E. P. Johnsons, the George A. Staples and the Ormond E. Hunts.

A fleet of limousines will take them to Hinsdale for the wedding at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening. The ceremony will take place in the garden of the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Childs. Provided the night is fair, there will be twilight for the service, aided by candlelight. The reception following will be held indoors. Mr. Brown will take his bride to Honolulu on their wedding trip. They will be at home in Indianapolis after Sept. 15.

The bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donaldson Brown, arrived from New York yesterday. Mr. Brown is a vice president of General Motors corporation. An uncle of the bride, Kent Childs, will give the bridal dinner at his home in Hinsdale tonight.

The Chicago friends of Miss Alicia Pratt and Dr. Forest Ray Moulton will be interested in their marriage this afternoon in Bryn Mawr, Pa. The ceremony will take place at 4:30 o'clock in the formal gardens of Mrs. Alba Johnson.

"The gardens are a dream of beauty," writes Miss Pratt. The Rev. Sherman Skinner will read the service in that part of the garden known as the Green garden, which is flanked on all sides by evergreen trees with huge jars of flaming flowers. The birds make quite an orchestra by themselves.

One of the bride's dance pupils, Betsy Hoover, the 15 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Hoover of Mount Kisco, N. Y., will be the only attendant. Mr. Hoover will give Miss Pratt away.

The bride's gown is of French blue crêpe and her hat is a picture one of dusty rose. She will wear orchids. Miss Hoover will wear cherry and white.

Miss Pratt has been living in Winnetka. Dr. Moulton, an astronomer, is the permanent secretary of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, with offices in Washington. He formerly was professor of astronomy at the University of Chicago. He was divorced from his first wife in February a year ago.

Your Stars ★ Today ★

By WYNN

Friday, July 28.

The seamy side of the pocketbook department, if it has such a side, becomes prominent today. Balance of work warns against snap judgment and social mistakes; keep the feelings under control. Remain calm.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead stimulates desires, ambitions, and urges to travel, more education, bigger perspective. Push forward, plan and act, but accept harder work, more responsibility. Danger: Feb. 21-March 2, and July 1-20, 1940.

Tomorrow.

John E. Hughes will leave for Saratoga on Aug. 7 for the sale of horses. He plans to sell some of the yearlings he has been raising at his Virginia farm.

The Arnold Hangars of New York and the Russell Firestones of Akron are others expected at Arlington tomorrow to watch their entries in the Futurity. Col. Edward R. Bradley's stable will be represented in the Futurity, but he will not be here for the race. His niece, Mrs. Charles Shelden, the former Molly Cullom, will be here with Mr. Shelden.

A small gold cup, the Admiral Cary T. Grayson Memorial cup, will be awarded to the breeder of the horse that wins the Futurity. A larger gold cup will go to its owner.

Twin Cities Polo Club to Play Here Sunday.

The close of Arlington is not the only week-end event that is attracting out of town visitors. The Twin Cities Polo club is coming to play a game with the Rising Sun Ranch at the Oak Brook Polo club on Sunday. Louis Hill, Tom and John Daniels of Minneapolis, and two Texas cowboys, Bud and Jack Tyler, will play for Minneapolis and St. Paul. Tom Daniels, who is the father of John, was here last week-end to play in an invitational golf tournament at the Shoreacres.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald V. Hollins Jr. [Betty Armour], who have returned from a honeymoon in Jamaica and are at home in Chicago for the summer, are leaving today for Oconomowoc, Wis., to spend the week-end in the home of Mrs. Hollins' grandmother, Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine. Their week-end companions will be Mrs. Hollins' cousin, Philip D. Armour Jr. and his bride of last fall.

Clay Judsons Will Give Dinner Tonight.

Unless the Clay Judsons' movie projector is in good working order by this morning a musical evening will be substituted for a program of movies following a dinner party at their home in Lake Forest tonight. If the night is fair dinner will be served on the terrace.

Miss Alice Judson, who is to be a debutante next year, is traveling in Scotland and Ireland this summer. She will enter the University of Chicago in the fall.

The lease is for ten years. Only a half block from League headquarters at 847 Monroe street, the hotel will operate under the supervision of the main office. The hotel, built by Gen. Charles G. Dawes as a memorial to his son, has been operated for the last twenty-five years as a men's hotel.

Did you know that the glass coffee brewers can also be used to brew tea? Whether you like it hot or iced you get its lovely color in this glass container.

And the newest trick is a glass rod filter which connects the upper and lower glass parts of the brewer. The rod now makes the entire contraption glass and therefore easy to keep clean and sanitary. The rod can be used on any glass coffee brewer.

Those born on the 28th usually need a partner to help them bring out the best in them. They are pioneers and original, but often find their balance and power by cooperating with others to bring out their original ideas. This is a favorable year for them to promote their talents before the public and to make friends.

For your personal yearly, monthly, and daily guide send ten cents to Evelyn Holmes, Box 382, General Postoffice, New York City. Please give your name, address, and birth data including month, day and year.

On the House

When a floor creaks the trouble usually is due to the fact that nails which hold the subfloor to the beams have loosened.

If the underside of the floor is exposed thin wedges can be driven between the boards and the beam to take up the looseness.

If the underside of the floor is covered there are two remedies: One is to take up the finish floor and renail [quite a task]. The other is to drive new nails through the finish floor and subfloor into beams.

This latter course should be done carefully. An expert should be called in who will know how to drive two inch finishing nails at proper points through finish floor to subfloor and beams without injury to top floor.

Benefit for Camp.

A benefit bridge party will be given next Tuesday at the new St. Anne's school and camp, which was opened this summer on the old Otto Young estate at Lake Geneva. The public is invited to the affair which will be held in the grand ballroom.

AN EXHIBITION? ALL-STAR GAME IS BEYOND THAT

Coach Thomas Finds It's Come of Age.

BY FRANK THOMAS.
[Head football coach, University of Alabama; head coach All-Star team, 1935.]

Tuscaloosa, Ala., July 27.—The annual game between the All-Star football players of the nation and the professional champions became of age long before this year's battle, to be fought in Soldiers' field Aug. 30. By this I mean specifically that the fans of the country have become thoroughly convinced that this year's game between the college stars and the New York Giants will be a brilliant spectacle and a hard fought contest. The game has outgrown the early days when many said it was only an exhibition.

Frank Thomas.

Early critics said that a group of All-Stars could not be welded into an effective offensive unit and, perhaps, the scoreless tie between the All-Americans and the Chicago Bears in 1934 supported that criticism. I was honored with election to the position of head coach in 1935. That squad of All-Stars was beaten by the Chicago Bears, 5 to 0.

Compliments Fellow Coaches.

I have no apologies to make although this is the only game in five years the collegians have lost. The series now stands at two ties, two victories, and one defeat. I would like to mention, however, that for the first week of the All-Stars' practice at Northwestern university in 1935 I was confined to a hospital bed. During this very important period, I could only confer with the other coaches, and they, undoubtedly because they did not wish to encroach on the obvious duties of the head coach in selecting offensive plays, were handicapped.

I would like again to pay my sincere respects to Slip Madigan, of St. Mary's; Charley Bachman, of Michigan State, and Dr. Clarence Spears of Toledo university, for their whole hearted coöperation and their acceptance of additional work because of my week of illness.

I believe we had a fine team. The Bears could not cross our goal line, and only by the place kicking of Jack Manders were they able to establish a half time advantage of 3 to 0. The Bears' other points resulted from a safety when we had a kick blocked behind our goal line in the rain storm in the second half. Maybe, I shouldn't mention that rain, but it didn't do us any good. Whatever chance we had of opening up slipped away when it started falling.

Unknowns Reach Stardom.

We had forty-three players on the 1935 All-Star squad, some twenty fewer than are now available each year. But in that group of men from all sections of the country we not only had the big name stars, whom thousands wanted to see, but there were unknown players who rose to stardom.

This is one point frequently overlooked by the fans. They have heard of such players as Don Hutson, the great offensive end from my 1934 Alabama team; of Cotton Warburton, Southern California half back; Bill Bevan, Stan Kostka, and Pug Lund, of Minnesota, and Regis Monahan, of Ohio State. They came to see them. They also saw great players in Bill Shepherd, of Western Maryland, and Tony Blazine of Illinois Wesleyan.

Both Shepherd and Blazine had that sent the three little fishes fimmin' back over the dam. It was a sudden reminder that they hadn't purchased their tickets for the All-Star game between the College All-Americans and the New York Giants, world's professional champions, Aug. 30, in Soldiers' field.

And maybe you don't want to be bossed, either, but mama knows best and she's been down to the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn and in the lobby of Tribune Tower, to get tickets. Of course, she could have sent a money order made payable to the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., to the All-Star Ticket Manager, Tribune Tower.

MEADE SEEKS TO RIDE TOMORROW IN $50,000 RACE

That's Picking 'Em

ISOLENE and Equifox were picked to win the first and second races in The Tribune's selections for Arlington Park yesterday. Both won, making up a daily double worth $639.80. Isolene returned $47.40, $15, and $10.80 for win, place and show. Prices on Equifox were $58.20, $18.40, and $8.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Don Meade, who has become the nation's leading jockey since being restored to good standing in four states, will apply to the Illinois racing commission for a license to ride Mrs. Charles S. Shelden's Boy Angler in tomorrow's $50,000 Futurity at Arlington Park, according to plans announced yesterday by Alex Gordon, who will saddle this colt for the rich stake.

Meade, who was ruled off the turf in 1936 on charges of betting on one horse and riding another in the same race, was reinstated by the Florida commission last December and began a comeback with sensational performances during the Hialeah meeting. Since then, he has been granted licenses in New York, Massachusetts, and Maryland.

Decline to Indicate Action.

Gordon, who arrived yesterday in charge of Boy Angler and E. R. Bradley's Bimelech, said that Meade had accepted the engagement and will arrive tomorrow morning if the commission takes a favorable attitude. It is understood that the application will be sent through the mail but there is a possibility that the commission may summon him for a personal hearing before accepting or rejecting his plea for reinstatement.

Jockey Punished Enough.

The Florida, New York, Massachusetts and Maryland commissions took the attitude that Meade had been punished enough by staying on the ground for more than two years. Within the next day the jockey will learn whether the Illinois officials concur in this opinion.

The arrival of Bimelech and Boy Angler completed the field for tomorrow's big stake. This pair will run as an entry and may be second choice to Arnold Hanger's brilliant colt, Roman Flag, which will be coupled with Mrs. Parker Corning's Straight Lead in the betting.

Longden Will Have Mount.

Johnny Longden, Arlington Park's leading jockey, who was under suspension on Classic day, will have a mount in the Futurity. He will be aboard the Woolford Farm stable's

He was warned to stay back of the life line, but finally managed to get by. . . . When he refused to get back out of the danger zone Balasz rowed toward him, leaped into the water and bit a hole in the inner tube, whereupon the bather sank. . . . Frank rescued him and brought him to shore. . . . Jimmy Crowley, football coach at Fordham, won a moral victory at Arlington yesterday. . . . He broke even. . . .

BROOKLYN GETS ONLY FIVE HITS; LEE WINS NO. 11

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

William Lee, whose troubles have been numerous this season, stepped back into the spotlight yesterday with a neat pitching job which played havoc in the ranks of Brooklyn's Dodgers. By fixing up a five hitter for himself, the stately right hander overcame the perpetual batting feebleness of his associates and sent the Dodgers on their way with a 3 to 1 beating. Lee now is over the .500 mark, with eleven successes against ten defeats.

Glen Russell.

The Dodgers, who had tossed a scare into the already scarey Cubs by taking the first two games of the set in a double-header program, took Lee's pitching orders so pleasantly that only two of them showed resentment in the form of hits during the first five innings. Then they suddenly gave him a blast of three hits in the next inning, but a double play solved this annoyance and, in appreciation of the fielding aid, Lee allowed only one more Dodger to reach base in the last three innings. This lucky fellow drew a pass.

Cubs' Hitting Is Timely.

The Cubs picked up here and there a total of eight hits, but only in one inning, the fourth, did they get as many as two, but their scoring was assisted in another way. Tot Pressnell, who started against them, and funny Red Evans, who finished, were not inclined to be miserly. Pressnell handed out four passes, two of them intentionally. Evans gave up only one, which was enough, allowing as he pitched only one inning. But two of these five passes became runs with the aid of subsequent hits, one of the latter being from Glen Russell and the other producer from Manager Gabby Hartnett.

Augie Galan, who the day previous set himself up as the only Cub in .300 hitting circles, made sufficient contributions to improve his tenancy among the elite. Galan popped forth with a double in his initial effort and in his next let loose a single which started the two runs incident in the third. In one of his two other bat wielding assignments he drew a pass. This was in the seventh, an inning which with two on and one out promised to bring forth a rally. Instead it brought forth a double play on a grounder tapped by Hank Leiber.

Lee had one of his occasional flutters in the first inning and for a few minutes was slightly distressed. After getting Hudson out of the way, Lee walked Lavagetto and Walker. He also pitched three wide ones to Camilli before getting a strike, but Camilli finally furnished relief by grounding into a double-play. The only excitement the Cubs could stir up in their half was Galan's double to left with two gone, after which Lavagetto threw out Leiber.

Russell Drives in Two.

Galan's second hit, his fifth in succession over a two day stretch, opened the profitable fourth. Augie singled to center and Pressnell added to the strain by passing Leiber. Gleeson contributed the usual sacrifice. Hartnett was passed purposely, one reason

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., July 27.—The White Sox went through considerable mental anguish midway in the final of their series with the Red Sox today. But after Clint Brown took charge with the Red Sox ahead, 7 to 6, the bases full and one out in the sixth, they became exuberant and finished up with a 12 to 7 victory, the last two runs of the Chicago dozen being driven in by old Dr. Brown himself. Brown, making his thirty-ninth appearance of the season and his fourth in the series, was credited with his eighth victory.

The aforesaid friskiness with which the White Sox finished the game, was so contagious that Mike Kreevich, who had been carried from the field after crashing into the center field concrete wall in the third inning, later joined his triumphant teammates under his own power. X-rays at St. Elizabeth's hospital showed Mike had suffered nothing more serious than a bruise.

Sox Hit and Field Too.

The Chicagoans, who made thirteen hits in each of their games yesterday stepped up the pace today by socking fifteen. Errorless in both games yesterday, they followed the flawless program today.

The White Sox lost the series, three games to two, but they were consoled a little by the fact that their victories were by overwhelming margins, whereas they lost the three by one run each. Two of the losses were due almost entirely to two-homer jags by Jimmy Foxx. Today J. D. Rigney pitched a homer to Jimmy in the first inning, his fifth in three games, and his twenty-fourth of the year. But that was the last time muscular James got home. He was thrown out in the third inning and walked the next three times he went to the plate.

Give Rigney Good Start.

DERRINGER WINS 14TH; REDS TAKE TWO FROM BEES

Leaders Go 11 Innings to Capture Second.

Cincinnati, O., July 27 (AP).—Frenchy Bordagaray singled in the eleventh inning of the second game today to score Frank McCormick and give Cincinnati both games of a double-header with the Boston Bees. The scores were 6 to 1 and 9 to 8. Paul Derringer's victory in the first game was his fourteenth of the year. Harry Craft hit his ninth homer in the first game and McCormick got his sixteenth in the second. McCormick got a total of five hits in ten tries and scored five runs. Both teams were ragged afield, the Bees making four errors and the Reds six.

Heat and humidity took a toll during the games. Umpire Dolly Stark was the first victim, going out in the third inning of the first game. His condition was reported satisfactory. Then A. F. Sparks, a fan from Springfield, O., keeled over and was taken to General hospital. Lee Grissom, pitching for the Reds in the second game, complained of the heat in the sixth inning and was relieved. Harry Craft, Cincinnati center fielder, then had to quit.

Kuhel. Appling singled to center, scoring Rosenthal.

The first step in the process of absorbing Rigney's lead was Foxx's fifth homer in three games.

Red Sox Tie It Up.

The second step in the overtaking process was a run in the second inning. Tabor opened with a double, and, after two outs, scored on Doerr's single to center.

Boston's tying run was scored in the third inning. After Finney and Foxx had supplied infield outs, Williams tripled to the wall in right center, the play on which Kreevich was injured. Cronin smacked the first pitch for a single to left, scoring Williams.

In the fifth the White Sox wrote two runs of insurance for Marcum. Kuhel walked and went to third on Radcliff's single to right. Rosenthal forced Radcliff, Kuhel scoring. Walker filed to Vosmik but Appling came through with his third straight hit, a single to left. McNair doubled, scoring Rosenthal.

Boston Keeps Trying.

The Red Sox dissolved half of Marcum's insurance in the fifth. Foxx walked with one down, went to third on Williams' single to right, and scored on Cronin's sacrifice fly. The White Sox were stopped with one run after making a swift start in the sixth. Tresh opened with a single and went to third on Marcum's single. He scored on Hayes' sacrifice fly.

Marcum got quite a bruising in the home sixth. Tabor and Peacock singled. Grove was sent up for Rich to sacrifice, but was hit by his own batted ball. Doerr singled to left, Tabor scoring and Peacock stopping at third. Finney singled past first, Peacock scoring and Doerr stopping at third. Foxx walked, filling the bases, then Doerr put Boston ahead, 7 to 6, when he scored on a wild pitch. Williams was given an intentional pass, again filling the bases, and Brown was called in. He struck out Cronin and then Vosmik sent a long fly to Rosenthal.

Away Goes Mr. Galehouse.

Both sides went out in order in the seventh, but the White Sox knocked out Galehouse, second Boston pitcher, in the eighth. McNair opend with his second double and scored on Steinbacher's pinch double. Dickman replaced Galehouse. Brown moved Steinbacher over with a sacrifice, and Hank scored while Doerr was throwing out Hayes.

The White Sox really went to town in the ninth. Radcliff was safe on the only error of the game. Then Rosenthal's sacrifice, an intentional pass to Walker, a single by Appling, his fourth of the game; a sacrifice fly by McNair, a single and a stolen base by Schlueter, and a single by Brown accounted for four runs.

Home Town Votes for Crisler

An Exhibition? All-Star Game Is Beyond That

reputations in their own sections, but against the Bears they proved they were the equal of all and superior to many of the players arbitrarily placed on the numerous All-American teams. Blazine and Shepherd also continued to play All-Star football in the professional league.

Pros Lose Smug Attitude.

Subsequent games have proved that the All-Stars do have an attack. And long since the professional champions have lost their smug attitude. They know now, since the Detroit Lions were tied, and Green Bay and Washington beaten that they face an able squad.

My experience personally was a pleasure. I met many players I never would have known and throughout the practice period, association with the coaches was most pleasant.

This advantage holds for the All-Stars. It's a fine get-together for them, a grand farewell to football for at least half of the squad. The others who enter professional football for a time also have the advantage of meeting many players with whom they will associate later.

The national All-Star game is truly national. And from this year's group, recently elected, will come as fine a team as that developed last year. The New York Giants may win as competition always has been close, but the thousands in Soldiers' field Aug. 30 are assured that they will watch one of the great games of the coming season.

Passeau to Pitch Against Giants in Opener of Series

Claude Passeau will pitch for the Cubs today in the opener of the series with the Giants, who, as the result of injuries, etc., are riding humbly in the second division. The Giant starter will be Bill Lohrman.

Bill Nicholson, the outfielder purchased some weeks ago by the Cubs from Chattanooga, positively will arrive here Monday, according to a statement issued yesterday by Charles Drake of the Cubs' publicity department. Nicholson was batting .345, including Tuesday' game.

Fourteen members of the baseball squad of Father Flanagan's famed Boys Town in Nebraska will visit Chicago today for a sightseeing tour, and later will attend the Cubs-Giants game. While here the youngsters will be guests of the Chicago Association of Commerce and the Cubs. The boys are on their way to Cleveland where they will play the Parmadale school for boys in Cleveland's annual amateur day celebration Sunday.

being fear he might hit one and the other that the Dodgers wanted to arrange the setting for a possible double play. Russell upset these calculations by singling to center, Galan and Leiber scoring. Hartnett continued to third on Walker's fumble of the hit. But Gabby received no further assistance.

The Dodgers' first hit was delayed until the third when Hudson singled with two out. Their next tap off Lee occurred in the fifth when Durocher tripled, also with two out. But in the sixth they showered the big fellow with three singles, getting only one run. Hudson started it with a single off Lee's glove and was forced by Lavagetto. Walker dumped a single into center to put Lavagetto on third. Camilli spanked a long single to right to score Lavagetto but just when it looked as if Lee was wabbling, Parks helped him out of the disturbance with a double play grounder to Herman.

The first thing Evans did upon taking charge of the Dodgers' pitching in the eighth was to issue a pass to Gleeson, who stole second and continued to third when Phelps' throw eluded Durocher. Hartnett, who previous to the steal had tried to bunt and failed, then took a swing which netted a single to right, Gleeson scoring.

Preparations Completed for Event at Navy Pier.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Preparations have been completed to hold the tenth annual Chicagoland 100 yard free style swimming championship meet at Navy pier Sunday afternoon. One hundred and seventeen boys and girls who won qualifying medals last week-end in four preliminaries are eligible for the ten title races Sunday.

All contestants must report not later than 1:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the auditorium at the extreme east end of the pier. They must present their letters of admission to the clerks. Each has been assigned a racing number. These letters also will admit swimmers to the locker rooms without charge.

Race Between Barges.

The 100 yard races will be held between barges anchored on the north side of Navy pier. From the double decks of the pier, as well as from other points of vantage, thousands may watch the events. The first semi-final will start at 2 o'clock. Semi-finals will be held in three of the ten age classes and perhaps in six, depending on the number of lanes that can be placed between the two barges. These lanes will be installed Sunday morning. The barges will be towed to the pier tomorrow morning.

Class—	Boys.	Girls.
A—[11 and 12 years]	15	8
B—[13 and 14 years]	18	11
C—[15 and 16 years]	18	11
D—[17 and 18 years]	11	9
E—[19 years and over]	8	8

Seven of the list of 1938 champions will compete in the finals Sunday. No champion, however, under the rules of the meet, is permitted to swim again in the age class in which he won last year. The list of returning champions, all winners in the next lower age division in 1938, are: Dick Upsall, Madison A. C., class B; Ian Crabb, Joliet, Ill., class C; Robert Amundsen, Lake Shore A. C., class D; Peter Stasiak, Memorial park, Calumet City, Ill., class E; Francoise Rose, Lake Shore A. C., class B; Mary Jane Wichser, Medinah club, class D, and Betty Wyle, Medinah club, class E.

Champions Will Receive Medals.

The ten champions Sunday will receive gold medals. Awards for those finishing second and third in each race are silver and bronze medals. Two silver trophies, one for the winning boys' squad and the other for the girls' team, will be presented. The scoring in each championship race is five points for first place; three points for second, and one point for third.

Seabright, N. J., July 27 [Special.]—Bryan M. Grant's superior strategy at the baseline enabled him to defeat 17 year old Jack Kramer of Montebello, Cal., and advance to the singles semi-finals of the Seabright tennis tournament today. The scores were 6-4, 7-5. Grant is from Atlanta, Ga.

Frankie Parker of Pasadena, Cal., eliminated Wayne Sabin of Portland, ., in a match which went to the identical score of 6-4, 7-5. Parker had to play his best tennis of the tournament to win. He left himself wide open on several occasions, however, and Parker passed him frequently with shots off an improved forehand.

Frank D. Guernsey Jr. of Orlando, Fla., was eliminated by Gilbert A. Hunt Jr. of Washington, D. C., 7-5, 7-5. Guernsey had beaten Bobby Riggs in a third round upset.

Parker and McNeill eliminated Kramer and Welby Van Horn, a fellow Californian, 6-1, 6-4, while Sabin and Gene Mako won a 3-6, 6-3, 6-3 triumph over Hunt and Ernest Sutter of New Orleans.

The Australian team of Adrian Quist and Jack Crawford was beaten by Doeg and Gardnar Mulloy of Coral Gables, Fla., 3-6, 9-7, 6-4.

Miss Gestring Loses National Diving Title

Des Moines, Ia., July 27 (AP).—Marjorie Gestring, little Los Angeles blonde, finally lost her senior outdoor women's national A. A. U. three meter springboard diving championship today. "Gosh, come to think of it, I'm hungry."

The diving contest was the feature of three final events on the first day show of the annual meet.

Señor Fernando LÓPEZ PORTA of Havana, Cuba, says

"Naturally, I prefer a genuine Havana cigar. I have rarely smoked anything else. Therefore, you can imagine my pleasant surprise, on tasting your new Blended-with-Havana WHITE OWL, to have found the unmistakable full-flavored richness I like so well."

J. López Porta

In Havana they like the taste of this brand new Blended-with-Havana cigar

AFTER WE'D PERFECTED our new Havana blend, we wanted to test it—to make sure it had the true Havana taste. That's why we took it all the way to Cuba. For where but Havana itself would smokers know better the true flavor of Havana tobacco? We selected prominent Cubans—real connoisseurs of cigars . . . gave them some of the new White Owls to smoke. Without exception they all praised the rich Havana flavor of this new cigar.

It's an old trick to put a mere dash of Havana in a cigar and say it's "Blended-with-Havana." But there is no trick about this cigar. It has a generous helping of Havana—your taste will tell you. It's a really good grade, too. Maybe this sounds unbelievable for a 5¢ cigar. Well, we are America's largest buyers of Havana tobacco and we know what we are talking about. Fact is, it's the same type Havana tobacco that is used in popular cigars costing 10¢ and more. Try one of these new cigars today.

New INVINCIBLE
Your choice of 2 shapes
Another "10¢" feature—now yours for 5¢ . . . a choice of shapes to suit your smoking taste. A long, trim, new Invincible. And a rich, full-bodied, new Club House shape. You get the same amount of tobacco—the same mild blend in either size—only the shape varies.

Liquidation of Insull Firms in Final Stage

After nine years of federal court proceedings, liquidation of the bankruptcy estates of former Insull investment companies neared completion yesterday. Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson authorized Garfield Charles, special master in chancery to disburse $175,000 in fees and $50,000 in expenses in connection with bankrupt Insull Utility Investments, Inc., and Corporation Securities Company of Chicago.

Attorney Charles H. Hamill and associates get $175,000.

The allowance by the court of fees and expenses to various attorneys and to debenture holders committees represents the final payment for services rendered in obtaining a compromise settlement of $3,452,000 for Insull Utility Investments and $1,200,000 for Corporation Securities company from New York and Chicago banks.

Trustees' Fees to Be Fixed.

There remain only final provisions for compensation of Harry A. Bigelow, trustee for Insull Utility Investments, and Sam Howard, trustee for Corporation Securities. Both firms entered receivership in April, 1932, when the Insull utility empire collapsed, and were later placed in bankruptcy.

Including the payments authorized yesterday, expenses incurred in obtaining the settlement from the banks totaled $582,084, or 17 per cent of the amount recovered for Insull Utility Investments, and $172,762, or 14 per cent of the amount obtained for Corporation Securities company.

Creditors of Insull Utility Investments who filed claims totaling $54,674,000 in the equity proceedings received a 4 per cent liquidating dividend in March, this year. Those who also filed claims totaling $50,000,000 in the bankruptcy case received about 3½ per cent in May.

Deadline for Filing Claims.

The deadline for filing claims against the bankruptcy estate was March 22, 1933, but in equity case it is Dec. 31, 1942. The equity estate has paid out $1,670,933 to creditors and debenture holders, and the bankruptcy estate $2,186,960.

Debenture holders who filed under both proceedings have received about $75 for each $1,000 bond face value.

Major allowances made yesterday were $75,000 to Attorney Charles H. Hamill and his associates, counsel for Bigelow, increasing their total compensation to $175,000, or 5 per cent of the amount recovered from the banks; $69,440 to Attorneys Lewis F. Jacobson and Roger Q. White and associates, counsel for petitioning creditors, raising their total receipts to $169,440, or almost 5 per cent of the bank settlement, and $57,865 to Trustee Bigelow, which boosted his total compensation to $92,865, or almost 3 per cent of the amount recovered.

Fee for Trustee's Lawyers.

Edwin M. Ashcraft Jr. and associates, counsel for Trustee Howard in the Corporation Securities company case, received a total of $87,950, or 7.3 per cent of the amount recovered for the company.

Litigation against the banks was based on the contention that they had accepted as collateral for loans almost the entire securities holdings of the two companies in violation of provisions of the indentures under which debentures of the companies had been issued.

Stability Fund Earnings Are Near 15 Million

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 27.—Earnings of the Exchange Stabilization fund amounted to nearly 15 million dollars as of last March 31, the treasury reported today. This was an increase of more than a million dollars for the first quarter of the year.

A balance sheet, reflecting the fund's secret activities since it began operating in January, 1934, to stabilize the dollar in foreign exchange markets, was contained in the treasury's regular monthly bulletin.

Fund Above Two Billions.

The balance sheet showed that the fund amounted to $2,017,524,096 on March 31. The fund originally totaled 2 billion dollars when it was created out of a "profit" of 2 billion 800 million dollars taken by the treasury when President Roosevelt devalued the dollar in January, 1934. Of the 2 billion dollars only 200 million has been used as a working fund.

The earnings shown of $14,609,000 on March 31 compared with $10,546,000 on June 30, 1938, and $13,230,000 on Dec. 31, 1938, and were derived as follows: profits and earnings on French franc transactions, $352,000; profits on gold bullion, $1,310,000; handling charges on gold, $4,474,000; silver transactions, $105,000; nationalized silver, $3,473,000; profits on investments, $620,000; interest on investments, $2,994,000; miscellaneous profits, $445; interest earned on foreign balances, $57,000; interest earned on Chinese yuan, $980,000, and deferred credits, $316,000.

Administrative Expenses Listed.

Administrative expenses totaled $845,000 to March 31, of which salaries accounted for $496,000, travel $37,000, subsistence $24,000, telephone and telegraph $209,000, stationery $12,000, and others $67,000.

Assets on March 31 included: inactive gold, $1,800,000,000; deposit accounts $39,030,000; special gold accounts, $30,191,000 in Bank of England, $2,941 in federal reserve bank of New York, and $121,040,000 in New York assay office; due from foreign banks, $19,284,000, including $19,237,000 in secured deposits in the Central Bank of China; investment in United States treasury bonds, $5,027,000; accrued interest receivable $6,000; deferred charges, $4,000.

GOVERNMENT TO SELL LOAN COTTON ABROAD BELOW WORLD PRICE

Washington, D. C., July 27 (AP).—Senator Byrnes [D., S. C.] announced today that negotiations had been completed for the cash sale, at a discount under the prevailing world price, of approximately 175,000 bales of government held cotton to France and Switzerland.

Senator Byrnes.

Byrnes said negotiations now were under way with an unnamed country for an additional sale on the same basis. He and Chairman Jones [D., Tex.], of the house agriculture committee introduced enabling legislation today.

Under terms of the tentative agreement, Byrnes said, this government would sell the cotton for a minimum price equal to the world quotation minus the government's carrying charges for eighteen months.

Carrying charges, including storage and insurance on government loan cotton, now average about $4 a year, making the minimum price to be quoted to the foreign countries $6 a bale less than the world market.

In return, the purchasers would agree to store the cotton for five years as reserve military supply, thus keeping it off the market.

More Power Rate Slashes Are Predicted

Further reductions in electric power rates charged Illinois users will be made in the next two years, Dr. Paul J. Raver, chairman of the Illinois commerce commission, predicted yesterday. Dr. Raver, who had been executive officer of the commission, was named chairman by Gov. Horner Wednesday and took office at once. He succeeded Senator James M. Slattery.

Raver announced yesterday that he has obtained a year's leave of absence from his position as acting director of public utility courses at Northwestern university, and will devote his full time to his new position.

Trend Still Downward.

"Substantial reductions in electric rates have been made in recent years," Raver said, "and, although the cuts may not continue at the same pace, the trend still appears to be downward. Our studies show that electric rate cuts have actually resulted in increased total revenues and earnings to utilities in most cases. More reductions will be possible because of the increasing use of electricity and the markets that still remain to be tapped."

Because lower rates have been accompanied by increased purchases of electricity, the return to investors has not been endangered, Raver said.

"There are approximately two billion dollars invested in this state in various kinds of utilities over which the commission has jurisdiction," he said. "It is the job of this commission to see that both investors and consumers are treated fairly and reasonably.

Substitute for Competition.

"The commission's fundamental job is the protection of the consumer. Of course, we have to be mindful of the investor, too. The point is, however, that regulation of utility companies by the commission is a substitute for competition and hence is a device, like competition, to protect the consumer. I believe that public ownership agitation will die down in the same relation that private companies reduce their rates.

"Former utilities' abuses of 'milking' subsidiaries and paying dividends out of capital have been largely eliminated. The resulting financial improvements of utility companies together with rate modifications place the private utility industries in Illinois in an excellent position to give service.

Apart from the electric power industry, there are companies in some instances which may need rate increases soon, he said. The commission also has jurisdiction over electric railways, gas, water, telephones, and buses.

PLAN TO CREATE WINTER HARBOR IN LAKE CALUMET

An inspection tour of the south shore of Lake Calumet, which far south side business interests hope to see developed into a winter mooring place for commercial ships, was made yesterday by Oscar W. Hewitt, commissioner of public works.

Accompanying the commissioner were representatives of shipping companies and far south side business groups. Residents of this area have urged the building of mooring facilities, stating that each ship that lays up in a lake port accounts for a minimum expenditure of $5,000 for supplies and repairs.

Business organizations of the area have asked the examiners of the WPA in Washington to approve $600,000 to build docks and warehouses at the harbor. The present inspection by Hewitt is in compliance with a recent city council resolution requesting such a survey.

BANK CLEARINGS ARE HIGHEST IN LAST FIVE WEEKS

New York, July 27 [Special].—Bank clearings in twenty-two leading cities rose to the highest volume in five weeks in the week ended yesterday, Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., reported today. Clearings at New York City bettered the 1938 figure for the first time in seven weeks. Chicago clearings rose 11.5 per cent to $288,500,000.

Volume for the week was $5,197,256,000, which was 11.7 per cent above the $4,651,240,000 cleared in the corresponding week last year. The aggregate was $326,071,000 above the total for the week ended July 19, contrary to the trend shown in the like weeks in 1938.

A rise of 16.4 per cent for the latest week brought the New York turnover to $3,147,012,000, or 10.3 per cent above 1938. Clearings in the other twenty-one cities were $2,050,244,000, up 14.1 per cent.

New Coach Trains to Start Chicago-New York Service

Two new all coach streamliners will leave Chicago this afternoon on their first run to New York. The two trains, the Trail Blazer of the Pennsylvania and the Pacemaker of the New York Central, will make the Chicago-New York run in 17 hours. This is the fastest coach service ever offered between the two cities. The Trail Blazer will leave the Union station at 2:30 p. m. and the Pacemaker will depart from the La Salle Street station at 3 p. m., both Chicago time.

Little Business Loan Bill Abandoned by Senator Mead

Washington, D. C., July 27 (AP).—Senator Mead [D., N. Y.] announced on the senate floor today that he had abandoned efforts to secure enactment of his "little business" loan bill this session. Mead said he was actuated by the "lack of enthusiasm" for the measure displayed by Jesse H. Jones, the lending administrator. Under the small loans measure the RFC would be empowered to guarantee bank loans to little business up to 90 per cent.

JOBS AND WAGES MAKE ABNORMAL GAIN IN ILLINOIS

Employment and wages in Illinois increased last month by a larger than usual degree, Martin P. Durkin, state labor director, reported in a survey issued yesterday. By comparison with May, the June statistics showed increases of two-tenths of 1 per cent in the number employed, and eight-tenths of 1 per cent in pay rolls.

Between the beginning of the year and the close of last month, employment advanced 2.3 per cent and wage payments rose 3.4 per cent, compared with figures for June, 1938, the number of jobs had increased 6.4 per cent and pay rolls gained 12.1 per cent.

A survey of employment in states included in the seventh federal reserve district showed the number of wage earners up 0.4 per cent and wage payments 3.4 per cent higher. The Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago made the survey, based on statistics for the week ended June 15, compared with those for May 15.

FIRST DIVIDEND SINCE '37 VOTED BY BETHLEHEM

June Quarter's Net Profits Rise.

Directors of Bethlehem Steel corporation, which reported much larger earnings for the June quarter, yesterday declared the first dividend on the common stock since 1937, a payment of 50 cents a share. The disbursement is payable Sept. 15 to stockholders of record Aug. 25.

The last common dividends were paid Dec. 24, 1937, when two payments of $1 and $1.50 were made. Total payments in 1937 were $5.

Net profit of Bethlehem for the June quarter totaled $3,822,927, compared with $150,305 in the same period last year. The latest earnings equaled 61 cents a share after preferred stock dividend requirements. The 1938 quarter's profit equaled 14 cents a share on the 7 per cent preferred and 2 cents on the 5 per cent preferred.

Six Month Profit Higher.

Indicated earnings for the first six months of this year amounted to $6,231,986, or 78 cents a common share, compared with $1,145,213 in the first half of 1938, which equaled $1.07 per share on the 7 per cent preferred share and 15 cents on the 5 per cent preferred share.

Eugene G. Grace, president, said that if a bond expense of $230,000 and a write-off from the sale of capital assets amounting to $792,000 had not been charged against income the net profit for the six months would have amounted to about $1 a common share.

Grace said that Bethlehem is operating at 61 per cent of capacity at present. In the June quarter operations averaged 60.4 per cent, and in the June, 1938, quarter they averaged 35.7 per cent.

A $7,000,000 construction program has been budgeted for the last half of 1939, Grace said. Spending for expansion and new equipment in the last six months amounted to about $5,000,000.

Big Projects Under Way.

Important projects are under way at the Big Sparrows Point, Maryland, plant, Grace revealed. Installation of equipment for rolling small pipe and for coating of wire by an electric process is being done. Installation of a cold rolled tin plate department is nearly finished.

The value of orders on hand June 30 was $184,921,081, compared with $192,040,906 at the end of the preceding quarter and $89,916,012 on June 30, 1938. Grace said the drop of about $7,000,000 in unfilled orders from the March quarter was largely due to progress work on ship contracts, and that the backlog of steel business was virtually unchanged.

The better trend in the steel industry is due to general construction and road building gains, a good shipbuilding program, and improvement in housing and bridge construction. Both private interests and government projects have also contributed to the upturn, he said.

FREIGHT TRAFIC FALLS DUE TO LOSS IN GRAIN

The Association of American Railroads reported yesterday that revenue freight loadings dropped 14,471 cars in the week ended July 22. The total was 656,341, compared with the preceding week's 1939 high mark of 673,812 cars.

A decline in loadings of grain caused the contra-seasonal decline, it was reported. This drop, however, was offset to some extent by gains in loadings of forest products, less than car lot merchandise, and coal.

The total was down 2.5 per cent from the previous week. The gain over the comparable 1938 week was 13 per cent.

Loadings of various commodities, and comparisons with the previous and 1938 weeks, follow:

JAMES L. FLY.

TVA Attorney Named to FCC by Roosevelt

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 27.—James L. Fly, general counsel of the Tennessee Valley authority, today was nominated by President Roosevelt to succeed Frank R. McNinch as a member of the federal communication commission.

The announcement said that McNinch has resigned as chairman of the commission. The White House did not release McNinch's letter of resignation or the President's letter of acceptance, which is the customary procedure in such cases.

McNinch, after a call at the White House last Tuesday, said he had asked permission to resign, but added there would be no action for some time.

Appointments Precede Resignations.

Mr. Roosevelt has made appointments in the past without waiting for resignations. A few weeks ago Mr. Roosevelt announced the appointment of Admiral William D. Leahy to succeed Blanton Winship as governor of Porto Rico before Winship knew his resignation was wanted.

McNinch's removal was considered desirable because the functioning of the commission was bogged down by endless bickering since he took over the chairmanship and was speeded up only when he took a leave of absence because of illness.

Fly will not immediately succeed McNinch as chairman of the commission, as that post is filled by vote of the commission. However, it is expected that he will be named to the post to conform with the wish of the President.

Pushes Drive on Utilities.

Fly's qualification for the post, as far as the administration is concerned, is that he took a leading part in the drive against public utilities as head of the TVA legal department. He won two TVA tests carried to the Supreme court.

He is a graduate of the United States Naval Academy and the Harvard law school. He became associated with the anti-trust division of the department of justice in 1929. After a brief association with a New York law firm, he became head of the TVA legal department in 1934. He is 41 years old.

SUBWAY MAY CAUSE RAZING OF GREAT NORTHERN

Officials connected with the operation of the Great Northern hotel announced yesterday they were considering the possibility of demolishing the hotel. They said, however, that no final decision has been reached and that a definite announcement may not be made for several weeks. The hotel is at Dearborn street and Jackson boulevard.

Carl Weitzel of the Marshall Field estate, owners of the hotel, said that razing of the building was only one of several possibilities necessitated by the building of the subway. Because of the subway construction, the hotel, which is now on a floating foundation, would have to be placed on caissons at an estimated cost of more than $150,000. Weitzel said present negotiations with officials of Pick Hotels, Inc., operators of the hotel, may lead to the latter action instead of actual demolition.

The hotel is known as one of the city's landmarks, having been completed in 1893. It was one of the first fireproof hotels in the middle west. Its famous "Silver Dollar bar" was a popular drinking spot a few decades ago.

Stocks, Bonds

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 27.—The stock market was irregular today. Sales fell to 816,770 shares. Of 733 issues traded, 295 advanced, 258 declined and 180 closed unchanged.

The market seemed to ignore favorable domestic news. Uncertainty over abrogation of the trade treaty with Japan made many traders cautious. It was believed that if a trade embargo follows business will be curtailed.

The list opened irregularly, with leading industrials moving lower while utilities gained. Moderate offerings then sufficed to put prices behind minus signs. In late trading fresh inquiry enabled shares to move up from the lower level.

Leading steel, motor and rubber shares closed with fractional losses. In this group were United States Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, Chrysler, United States Rubber, Goodyear, Montgomery Ward, Kennecott, and Standard Oil of New Jersey. General Motors and Sears, Roebuck were among the exceptions, edging fractionally higher.

Westinghouse was a standout among high priced stocks, rising two points. Allied and du Pont in the chemicals both added more than a point. American Can gained almost two points.

In the early runup among utility issues, blocks ranging to 2,500 shares were traded. Although best prices were not maintained a steady undertone prevailed in the group.

Active rails closed unchanged to fractionally higher. Northern Pacific was trade leader in the group, rising ⅜ of a point. Aviation issues were relatively steady.

Among specialties, United Merchants and Manufacturers spurted 2 points to 12 on rather heavy buying.

New York Bonds.

New York, July 27 (AP).—United States government issues paced the bond market on a slow move into higher ground today. Japanese loans fell back on the treaty news.

A limited demand from investment sources for various treasury maturities sound the offering side bare and buyers were forced to bid to get wanted loans. There was no special news development. Closing prices were around the day's best and ranged from 2-32 to 10-32 of a point higher against one or two minor declines.

Steps by the United States government to abrogate the 1911 treaty with Japan caught the bond market unawares but there was no dumping of far eastern securities. Instead, offerings were light and buyers were found without difficulty at declines of a point or so.

Chicago Stocks.

Commonwealth Edison, which several times within recent months has pushed through previously established high marks, established another peak in trading on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. It sold ⅛ point higher at 31 on buying interest renewed by the report of increased earnings.

Middle West, Marshall Field, Jarvis, Bendix, and other trading favorites were also fractionally improved. Of 104 issues traded fifty advanced and twenty-nine declined. The others closed at Wednesday's final levels.

Eight other issues, including Bastian-Blessing, Central and South West preferred and Northwest Utilities preferred set new 1939 high marks.

Bank Stocks.

City National and First National bank stocks were each bid up 1 point in yesterday's trading here. Harris Trust climbed 5 points, but Continental Illinois was bid ½ lower.

WHEAT AND CORN CLIMB AGAIN ON DROUTH MENACE

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

	Yesterday.	Wednesday.	Yr. ago.
Wheat	$ .64½	$ .63¼	$ .68
Corn	.41¼	.39⅞	.57
Oats	.27⅞	.26⅝	.24
Rye	.42¼	.40¾	.47⅛
Soy beans	.67¾	.66¾	.83½

Grain prices continued upward yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. Wheat and corn futures advanced more than 1 cent from Wednesday's closing prices. Buying was induced by continued hot and dry weather in the American and Canadian northwest and in the corn belt. Mills were reported to have been large buyers of wheat futures.

Closing sales were about at the top for the day. Wheat showed gains of 1¼ to 1⅜ cents and was 3½ to ¾ cents above the low point on Monday. Corn gained 1⅜ cents and showed an advance of 3⅛ to 4⅛ cents from the low price on Wednesday. Oats, rye, and soy beans advanced 1 cent a bushel or more.

Drouth Grows More Severe.

Drouth conditions are reported to be increasing in intensity over a wide area. Irreparable damage was reported to the spring wheat crop in parts of Minnesota, the Dakotas, and Montana. The Great Northern railroad's weekly summary indicated that grasshoppers were moving into corn fields in the four states. The outcome of the crop, it is said, will depend to some extent on the damage by insects.

Reports yesterday to Omaha grain firms asserted the corn crop in the western two-thirds of Nebraska would have to be a near failure unless rains were received shortly. The department of agriculture's July 1 returns estimated the prospective Nebraska crop at 168,000,000 bushels, the 1938 harvest was 108,000,000 bushels.

Official reports said there was a large area in Kansas where the corn crop was a total failure.

Showers in West Forecast.

Bullish sentiment in corn was tempered by a forecast for showers and cooler weather in a majority of the states west of the Mississippi river. The domestic demand for flour yesterday was reported to be quiet after large sales for the two preceding days. The foreign demand also was said to be slow.

There was some buying of wheat futures yesterday based on a statement by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace that the outlook was favorable for an international wheat agreement between principal exporting countries.
